

CHARACTER | GUIDE

WHO TO BE AND NOT TO BE IN CASE OF FALLOUT

Supersedes MP-20, Gennaio 2056

CHARACTERS

GUIDE

There are no minor characters in Bunker 101, everyone has their peculiarities, everyone's an important piece of the mosaic. There are no extras, only protagonists. Every character has individual data, recorded in an Identity card, and their own personal history, told through a Psychological profile, containing their objectives, their tasks, their beliefs, their ways of being.

Fill the form on the bunker 101 website with your preferences on the character you'd like to play: choose your role carefully, because each of them offers a different game experience.

Every character sheet exists within our fictional world. It is a profile compiled by the Welfare Department, so the information contained therein is of public domain and is told through the eyes of an Educational Operator.

Use the data on your character sheet as prompts for your roleplay, like a sort of guideline. The sheets are deliberately filled with unanswered questions so that you can "fill in the blanks" and make your character unique and a perfect fit to your tastes.

All character sheets are public and contain these fields:

NAME: The name you answer to inside the Bunker. By the will of the Founder, all Citizens' names are chosen from a list of important historical figures (see Bunker Guide section 2.0.1).

BLOCK: The Block you belong to. Each has their character, their way of life and their own traditions. (see Bunker Guide section 1.3.)

DEPARTMENT: The Department you work in. They are the main organization in the Bunker and each has a specific task. (see Bunker Guide section 2.0.)

CLASSIFICATION: Your specific role inside the Department. Each profession entails specific tasks you will need to attend to as an active member of Bunker 101 (see Bunker Guide section 2.0.)

SCHNEIDER SCALE: Your rank on the Schneider Scale. There are three, from Green (highest) to Red (lowest). (see Bunker Guide section 3.4.)

CLUB: The afterwork circle you are affiliated with. Some take part in political or religious activism, others are purely devoted to entertainment. (see Bunker Guide section 4.2.)

GENDER: Most characters can be played by anyone, while others' identities are closely tied to their gender.

TIES: The main relationships of your character, as recognized by the laws of Bunker 101.

PERMITS: The Permits your character is entitled to. (see Bunker Guide section 3.3.)

POLITICAL STANCE: The party your character voted for in the past elections. You will not be forced to vote for the same party again, but you will need a good reason to change your mind. (see Bunker Guide section 4.3.)

RELIGIOUS STANCE: Your character's thoughts on faith. They may either be a Dunceanist or a rationalist. (see Bunker Guide section 4.0.)

ARCHETYPE: The archetype is a brief phrase that summarizes the high concept behind your character. Their place in Bunker 101 in the eyes of Educational Operators, and by extension the community itself.

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS: These are questions the character will try to find an answer to during the course of the game. They can be seen as hopes or fears of the Educators, but they are most of all vital pointers to play the character. Use them as guidelines, halfway between objectives to reach and interesting prompts to create your personality.

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE: Functional Attributes are reports filed by Educational Operators and summarized in a single adjective or expression, to exemplify the thought and action patterns of the character deemed helpful to the community of Bunker 101. They are not necessarily positive in the eyes of us modern players.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE: Dysfunctional Attributes are reports filed by Educational Operators and summarized in a single adjective or expression, to exemplify the thought and action patterns of the character deemed harmful to the community of Bunker 101. They are not necessarily negative in the eyes of us modern players.

[CLICK HERE TO GO
TO THE CHARACTERS INTERACTIVE TABLE](#)

CHARACTERS

---

INDEX

ARMITAGE	6	KEATON	52
ASCARI	7	KEROUAC	53
BANCROFT	8	LACOSTE	54
BARTALI	9	LAUTREC JR	55
BERNHARDT	10	LINCOLN	55
BOGART	11	LOIK	56
BORGES	12	MAJORANA	57
BRADDOCK	13	MARCIANO	58
BYRON	14	MONROE	60
CAPOTE	15	MATISSE	61
CARNERA	16	NABOKOV	62
CHAMBERLAIN	17	NAGURSKI	63
CHAPLIN	17	NELSON	64
CHURCHILL	18	NEWTON	65
COPPI	19	NEWTON JR	66
CRAWFORD	20	OLIVIER	67
CURIE	21	OLSEN	68
DARWIN	22	OWEN	71
DIMAGGIO	23	PATTON	72
DISNEY	25	PICASSO	73
EARHART	26	PIOLA	74
EINSTEIN	27	PONTECORVO	74
EISENHOWER	29	PROUST	75
ELLINGTON	30	PUSKAS	75
EWRY	31	RICHELIEU	76
EYSER	32	ROBESPIERRE	77
FANGIO	33	SCHRÖDINGER	78
FARADAY	34	SHERMAN	79
FERMI	35	SINATRA	80
FIBONACCI	36	SPOONER	81
FITZGERALD	37	SWAHN	82
GABLE	38	TESLA	83
GARBO	39	TRACY	84
GOYA	40	TRUMAN	85
GRANT	41	TURING	86
GREZAR	42	VOLTA	87
HEMINGWAY	44	WAYNE	88
HEPBURN	45	ZATOPEK	89
HITCHCOCK	46
HOLIDAY	47
JACOVACCI	48
JEFFERSON	49
JOYCE	50
KAHN	51

ARMITAGE

ARCHETYPE: The ever-prepared head of mission

Block: Unaone
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Security
Level: Supervisor
Classification: Exploration
Club: Elephant
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do all you can to return the remains of the first Exploration Operator to their rightful place? Will you bring back all your peers from the Great Journey? Will you answer with disdain to those who denigrate Extra-bunker missions? Will you trust your fellow Operators and guide them from the inside or will you take your place out there? Does the bunker need someone like you to become President? Is there room for love in your life?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Brave

Report: The Citizen is ready to write the history of Bunker 101 by leading the first Extra-bunker mission in honor of the first Exploration Operator Stern. Everyone knows the story of Stern, one of the first Citizens to volunteer for the tests of prototype anti-radiation suits in Area 1K. His two companions died after the first few steps, but Stern managed to reach a remote checkpoint before losing radio contact. His body still lies there, and the first Extra-bunker mission will bring him home for proper cremation. To reach this goal, the Citizen is willing to face the hell of darkness and radiation that awaits Exploration Operators beyond the doors of Bunker 101.

Associated behavior: The Citizen openly celebrates the first Exploration Operator Stern and works with every fiber of their being to prepare Units Pitcher and Catcher to the Great Journey.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Inflexible

Report: The Citizen has often hounded on Exploration Operator Nuvolari to punish them for their distractions during training. Armitage wants everything to be perfect for the first Extra-bunker mission, but the wait for the Great Journey is certainly not enough reason to glide over their harshness towards their Operators. Secretary of Security Zatopek seems unwilling to take disciplinary measures, but the inflexibility of Citizen Armitage cannot be defended forever.

Associated behavior: The Citizen subjects the Exploration Units to intense, harrowing training to prepare them for the Great Journey. In addition the Citizen is extremely strict and authoritative in their regards.

ASCARI

ARCHETYPE: The whipped husband seeking redress

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Dirac. Unused Birth Permit.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

What is the most important thing to you?, the Elephant Club or your wife Dirac? Will you put order to your own personal chain of command? Will you finally take initiative, solve the Birth Permit quandary and win back your wife's esteem after that vicious fight? Do you think someone in the bunker owes you something for your undending loyalty?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Obedient

Report: The Citizen has always proven himself swift and capable when following orders. For this reason he was assigned to the Security Department, in spite of his Terrathree origins. He is an efficient, disciplined military man, with nothing on his mind but duty. The Secretary of Security is his beacon... Together with his wife, Citizen Dirac, an indomitable spirit who found a safe haven in Citizen Ascari. He was involved in the activities of the Elephant Club as the prototype of the perfect Citizen for his strong principles, and his dedication to the cause is impressive: he accepted the electoral program without protest, even though it proposes to revoke unused Birth Permits, in spite of being the holder of one together with his wife.

Associated behavior: The Citizen follows orders. He never questions them. He often volunteers. He is most of all loyal to the Secretary of Security and to his wife. He sometimes struggles with taking initiative, but he is willing to sacrifice himself.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Disoriented

Report: The Citizen is overwhelmed by a vicious argument with his wife about their Birth Permit, which would seriously risk being revoked, were Elephants to win the elections. Ascari sincerely wants a son and is just as sincerely ready to give up fatherhood for the sake of the community. The Citizen works both for the wellbeing of the party and the happiness of his wife, but now that these two demands are in conflict, he is deeply torn. He does not seem to know how to unravel the issue and his nature brings him to wait for rescue by some above force. He knows that the only thing that can save his Union is solving the Birth License quandary.

Associated behavior: The Citizen tries everything to reconnect with his wife, and every time he accepts her rejection. He goes about the Elephant presidential campaign with badly-concealed reluctance. He turns to superiors in search of a political favor that might solve the situation.

BANCROFT

ARCHETYPE: The current Secretary of the Ecosystem

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Biological

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you find a way to avoid going back to the Ecosystem Department's dirty work? Will you make your Department better, coordinating it without playing favorites? Will you put the needs of the community before your own? Do you believe Duncanists would give you the support you need to reach your goals? Will you start a family before Secretary Volta?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Honest

Report: The Citizen is renowned for their fairness and for always reporting loiterers such as Citizen Hepburn. "Everyone must do their part, even when it's an exhausting one" is one of the sayings they love to repeat during Ecosystem Department meetings. Assigned to their Department in spite their birth to an esteemed Bissotwo family, they have toiled to get where they are and President Grant esteems their frankness. Bancroft often engages in verbal quarrels with the Secretary of Progress, Citizen Volta, and seems to find genuine amusement in doing so.

Associated behavior: The Citizen never plays favorites nor remain silent when faced with the Citizens' mistakes. They think everyone must stay in their place. They are never afraid to speak their mind. They care about earning the President's esteem, whoever they are. They often bicker with Secretary Volta.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Cantankerous

Report: The Citizen exhibits what one may call a "bad temper". Their love of polemizing has prolonged more than one meeting of the Council of Synergy to the point of exasperation and they may be the testiest Duncanist to ever exist. They saw their appointment as Secretary as a liberation from what they don't hesitate to define "Ecosystem garbage", in open scorn of the manual labor they have been assigned to, and to which they will return at the end of their mandate. Sometimes, they appear to be looking for a way to prolong their political career.

Associated behavior: The Citizen thinks of themselves as a politician more than a worker. They look down on Ecosystem Department Operators, being tactless toward their Operators. They are very preoccupied with their career and support motions based on their personal gain.

BARTALI

ARCHETYPE: The meddler with loose lips

Block: Unaone
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Red
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Intelligence
Club: Decency
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will your curiosity push you to ask for Reassignment to Exploration? Will you increase your rank on the Schneider Scale? How many others are involved in Nabokov's heresy? What dangers lie behind DiMaggio's silence? To what extremes are you willing to go to guarantee order within the Bunker?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Vigilant

Report: The Citizen has taken to heart the question of order within the bunker. Their attention and dedication help them keep watch over other Citizens' behavior and report inappropriate activity, like in the case of Chronicler Operator Nabokov, who Bartali caught in the middle of some sort of heretic prayer.

Associated behavior: The Citizen constantly urges their peers to behave in the best interests of the bunker and be respectful of standing authorities. Moreover the Citizen diligently monitors the internal order of the Bunker

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Prying

Report: The Citizen has been the subject of multiple complaints for their lack of discretion when dealing with others' personal matters. Citizen Bartali's interests seems to go beyond healthy participation to community life, especially because it often comes hand in hand with imprudent propagation of rumors and a general disrespect of other Citizens' sensibilities. Bartali has in more than one occasion been sighted wandering around Citizen DiMaggio's sleeping quarters, although there are no known relations between the two. The Citizen is also careless with the information they gather during their duties.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is hardly respectful of others' privacy and often ignores the boundaries they set. They also seem unable to keep restricted information secret.

BERNHARDT

ARCHETYPE: The prophet of the downtrodden

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Mastiff

Political stance: Mastiff

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you convince more and more people to vote Mastiff? Will you run for President because you know you're the only one who can really change things? Will you discover what ails your friend Ellington? Will you manage to learn who reported you to the Welfare Department? Will you confront Richelieu, the cowardly conservative who publicly humiliated you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Passionate

Report: The Citizen has repeatedly shown their ability to exalt and motivate the people of Bunker 101. Even the most mild and introverted eagerly follow their speeches and rallies in favor of the Mastiff Club. Their strong voice, proud gaze and authentic fervor make them one of the most promising political figures of the entire community. Besides their unquestionable public charisma, Citizen Bernhardt was also able, in more than one occasion, to spur on Citizens that had been going through particularly bad times. As an example, it is worthy to note the emotional support offered by Bernhardt to their colleague and friend, Biological Operator Ellington, during a difficult moment of their life.

Associated behavior: The Citizen speaks with heartfelt love about Bunker 101 and their hopes of reform, to make it "a child of our times", and tries to involve every other Citizen in their dream.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Seditious

Report: The Citizen makes use of every possible chance to proselytize and spread the word about the Mastiff Club, even when it would be inappropriate to do so. In spite of the numerous warnings received, Bernhardt keeps irking their work colleagues with lamentations about the social inequality endemic to Bunker 101 and the structural prevarications of Block Unaone and the Elephant Club. Their speeches are often biased and generate alarmism in their peers. For this reason, an anonymous colleague has reported Citizen Bernhardt to the Welfare Department. Bernhardt was summoned before the Committee and accused of being antisocial by Educational Supervisor Richelieu, but they rejected the claim and approached Richelieu during a Dance to start a verbal altercation. Citizen Richelieu rebuffed them with their usual aplomb and publicly humiliated them: after spilling their drink, the Supervisor instructed Bernhardt to do their job for once and bring them another.

Associated behavior: The Citizen strongly advocates against the Elephant Club and Block Unaone. They miss no chance to start a heated debate.

BOGART

ARCHETYPE: The tormented soul

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Ecological

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you tell Kafka about your unsatiable desire to know more about those who came before Bunker 101? Will you fill Archival Operators with questions about their research? Will you juggle your thirst for knowledge with your menial, often arid job as an Ecological Operator? Will you find an answer to your great existential question? Will you support your friend Eyser? Will you show Educational Operator Jefferson that your questions do not come from a place of sorrow?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Curious

Report: The Citizen has always surprised Educational Operators for the interest they have in all areas of life and knowledge. They were assigned to the Ecosystem Department after a difficult evaluation: their Assignment exam had incredibly balanced results, showing equal interest and curiosity towards all kinds of professions. Citizen Bogart frequently entertains themselves by chatting with Archival operators, particularly Citizen Kafka. Their questioning mostly centers on the Memory Department's current research and the next exhibition at the Memory Museum. The Citizen invites those around them to be curious about all fields of human knowledge, without limiting themselves to one narrow discipline.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always tries to learn something new and often asks other residents of the Bunker about their activities. They seem eager to learn and pose existential questions to themselves and others.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Restless

Report: During a preliminary evaluation as a possible Supervisor, the Citizen claimed to be completely uninterested in the position. When asked why by Educational Operator Jefferson, they answered thus: "I have other things in my mind, gentlemen. Like humanity, for example. Have you ever wondered if there are other people on this Earth? Are we really the only ones left? What if we aren't... What if there are others like us?" Since they also admitted to being unable to think about anything else, Educational Operator Jefferson reported some worry for their condition. However, a dear friend of Bogart, Citizen Eyser, testified in their favor, because "their devotion to the great questions of life is an asset to Bunker 101, not an hindrance".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is haunted by this great question: are there any more humans on planet Earth? They often bother other denizens of the bunker, insistently asking them to reflect on the possibility of other men and women being out there, somewhere.

BORGES

ARCHETYPE: The journalist in search of the Founder

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties: Tesla's Tutor.

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Chronicler

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you think a Terrathree like you could become President? And if not, do you want a Donkey in office in order to learn more about Marilyn? Are you positive that all Duncanists should support you because Marilyn still holds many of the Founder's secrets? Are you ready to do anything to pursue the truth to its core? Are you obsessed with Duncan's persona?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Determined

Report: The Citizen is an example to all workers and has gained much merit for solving a dispute between the Tunnel's editorial staff and the Tailor Club. Borges is incredibly fascinated by our Founder's history. For the past anniversary of His death, the Citizen presented twenty-three different texts for the redaction of a brief biography of Thomas Duncan, allowing a compromise to be found between the many diverse needs in play. Citizen Borges also seems positive that Duncan had a vision that somehow went beyond what us people of the bunker can imagine.

Associated behavior: The Citizen aims to become one of the greatest experts on the Founder. Borges is also determined to pass on the vision, the works and the deeds of T. Duncan and motivate the Citizens of the Bunker 101 by quoting His words.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Nosy

Report: Notwithstanding having been assigned to the Political Chronicle, more than once Borges has demanded to interview Logistical Operators, abusing their role as a Tutor for Citizen Tesla, and was caught in the act of taking notes on Marilyn's inner workings. Their insistence has gone well beyond the duties of a Chronicler Operator and annoyed the Logistical Supervisor Fermi.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always looking for new information, from Citizens or from the archives. They eavesdrop on conversations and try to access the records, as well as the electronic brain's logs. For some reason, they remain convinced that Bunker 101 still hides many secrets.

BRADDOCK

ARCHETYPE: The meek spirit

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Exploration Control

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanista

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you still regret the injury that keeps you from undertaking the Great Journey? Do you believe hard work will convince your superiors to overlook your limp? Could getting a Union Permit with the right person help you bury the hatchet? Will you keep your regret from poisoning your friendship with other Exploration Operators?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Good advisor

Report: A good Duncanist, a hard worker and an upstanding Citizen, this is what is said about Braddock. The Citizen always tries to improve themselves and others, often by saying the right thing at the right time. Being so amiable, they have warmed up to the newest Exploration Operator Carnera and are trying to impart on them some of the common sense they sometimes lack. In the same way, they are very close to Citizen Lincoln, partner of late Citizen Weissmuller, who died in the same accident that injured Citizen Braddock's leg. For all these reasons, Braddock would seem like the ideal candidate to start a family.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always full of good advice. They know how to listen and take others' hardships to heart. They lie about the pain they feel in their injured leg.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unable to give up

Report: The Citizen had initially been assigned to physical training as an Exploration Operator, in preparation to the Great Journey. Their enthusiasm and dedication were a joy to all Operators, but this excess of zeal turned against them, since the accident that caused the death of Citizen Weissmuller occurred during an unscheduled training session, outside of work hours. Citizen Braddock survived with a slight limp: nothing that could fully compromise their health and usefulness to Bunker 101, but enough to make them unfit for the extraordinary physical labor required of those who will face the unknown. Now that the Great Journey is impending, the Citizen acts insufferable and cannot seem to accept that a full physical recovery is impossible. They still hope to return to their previous tasks and see what lies outside of the perimeter.

Associated behavior: The Citizen keeps talking as if they are to take part to the expedition in the first person. They constantly look for loopholes to be admitted back into their old Unit. They feel different from the rest of Unit Shortstop.

BYRON

ARCHETYPE: The sickly intellectual

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Archival

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you protect your Archival Operators from the narrow-minded Welfare Department? Will you dedicate what little time you have to work? Will you entrust someone with your moral and aesthetic testament? Will you finally manage to thank Matisse for those whispered words? Will you confront Proust, the one who snitches on your men to avoid paying for their excesses?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Industrious

Report: The Citizen fulfills their duties as Archival Supervisor with dedication and a high sense of responsibility. In spite of their worrying health condition, Citizen Byron does not hold back. They are terrified by the thought of losing precious time, so they work hard and devote care and love to the study of humanity's past. An emblematic episode occurred at the opening of a new exhibition in the Memory Museum, which Citizen Byron was so invested in as to refuse to leave their post in spite of a drastic worsening of their condition. It fell on Archival Operator Matisse to gently but firmly send them home, with these words: "And what if tomorrow, Supervisor Byron, the mysteries of the Universe were revealed to you, and you were to miss it because you had passed out from exhaustion?"

Associated behavior: The Citizen does not want to waste time during work hours, and in spite of their frail health they work hard to passionately research the mysteries of the past.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unstable

Report: The Citizen is subject to frequent mood swings. They regularly alternate between extreme euphoria and apathetic despair. They have even occasionally experienced sudden flashes of anger, immediately followed by regret. The Committee believes them an excellent member of the community and is willing to turn a blind eye to these infrequent episodes, which can surely be blamed on the stress caused by their illness. Some time ago, the Welfare Department was notified of a quite violent altercation between Citizen Byron and Chronicler Supervisor Proust. Following an argument between the two, the causes of which have not been reported, Citizen Byron irately grabbed them by the collar and threatened them thus: "Don't you dare touch MY operators. As long as I live, you don't get to touch them. Nobody gets to touch them. Is that clear?" Afterwards, Byron left with no further explanation.

Associated behavior: The Citizen alternates euphoria with apathy. They sometimes even give into rage, only to immediately regret it afterwards.

CAPOTE

ARCHETYPE: The sensible editor

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Chronicler

Club: Decency

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Are you always on the hunt for someone to give a stern talking-to? Do you believe all other Chronicler Operators wouldn't know which way the ceiling was without you? Do you think other Citizens often misinterpret the news and censorship is thus a necessity? Would a friend in Security do you some good? Or are you maybe looking for something more? Do you think your job is a mission only you can accomplish?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Reliable

Report: The Citizen is well aware of the importance of information and of their own role in the bunker. Far from any delusions of protagonism which so often affect Chronicler Operators, Capote is rigorous in attending every trial to report on the Judiciary Chronicle and in selecting the news to present, doing whatever's possible to keep the exuberance of Supervisor Proust in check. The responsibility of saying no has fallen on them, and thanks to the admirable hard shell they have built up they do not hesitate to put colleagues in their place if it becomes necessary.

Associated behavior: The Citizen puts the interests of the people before their own popularity. They do not hesitate to say no or "be the bad guy". They handle the censorship of inappropriate news.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Grouchy

Report: The Citizen displays what one might refer to as a bad temper. They often raise their voice, issuing orders even when hierarchy would not allow them to. They are curiously at ease with the military of the Security Department, while on the other hand showing difficulties in standing the creative vein that often defines Memory Department Operators, which they often deride as "artsy wannabes". Capote takes the Decency Club's activities with utter seriousness, sometimes exceeding in zeal when inviting fellow Citizens to keep a respectable conduct and attire at all times.

Associated behavior: The Citizen barks orders left and right, like a general of old. They employ a great dose of sarcasm. They find genuine enjoyment in constantly commenting on fellow Citizens' behavior.

CARNERA

ARCHETYPE: The spirited recruit

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Tutor to Eisenhower
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Explorer
Club: Sport
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you greet the mind behind the Cavernauts and thank them for paving your way towards Exploration? Will you live up to your heroes during the Great Journey? Will you keep your companions united like a real team of Cavernauts? Will you do all you can to help Eisenhower redeem themselves in the eyes of the Bunker? Can a law that would let your idols die really be called just?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Enthusiastic

Report: The Citizen is the perfect demonstration of the success of the Assignment system: they have fully embraced their role within Unit Pitcher, putting themselves through vigorous physical training in preparation to the exploration of Area 1K. Their enthusiasm makes them unifying presence between the three Exploration Units: besides earning the goodwill of Citizen Braddock, they have become the center of the social lives of Units Pitcher, Catcher and Shortstop. They are also a standing Bounce! champion together with the Block Bissotwo team. During a routine calibration session with the Welfare Department, they made a list of their role models: Citizen Earhart, "a great father to our brave family", Citizen Grezar, "the soldier of steel" for their collection of physical records, and the protagonist of the five-episode radio drama The Adventures of the Cavernauts, because "that's what real heroes look like!".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always first in line for training and is prone to acts of heroism worthy of their favorite radio drama, as well as incessant raving about said drama. They work constantly to build up the team spirit of their Exploration colleagues. They often seek the company of Bounce! team Bissotwo, Loik and Garrincha.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Overzealous

Report: The admiration the Citizen nurtures towards their team mates is akin to obsession, so much so that their excess of zeal has repeatedly brought them to the brink of collapse in order to prove themselves worthy during simulations. Their desire for validation must be kept in mind during training and channeled towards productive behavior: an example was their volunteering to become Citizen Eisenhower's Tutor, after the latter was brought before the Committee for unlawfully administering Daisy+ pills to Citizen Grezar. Citizen Carnera stepped forward in a show of misplaced gratitude towards the Therapeutic Operator who had tried to prolong their idol's life, as Grezar has passed 40 years of age and is now subject to a reduced healthcare regime, but they are still actively contributing to the reintegration of Citizen Eisenhower in the fabric of society.

Associated behavior: The Citizen longs to live up to their idols, to the point of acting recklessly in order to impress them.

CHAPLIN

ARCHETYPE: The charming snitch

Block: Quadrofour
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: -
Ties: Tutored by Kahn
Department: Ecosystem
Level: Operator
Classification: Ecological
Club: Decency
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you use your friendship to pass the impending exam and become the new Supervisor? Will you do your best to make those who ask your help for the Dancing Night become alluring and well-groomed? Will you resist the temptation of seducing a married Citizen, and behave like you promised your Tutor? Will you tell Tracy it was you who reported her inappropriate behavior to Educational Operators?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Cooperative

Report: The Citizen has proven attentive to the needs of Bunker 101. In addition to their constant toiling during work hours, Citizen Chaplin is known for their careful watch over their colleagues' dedication and for reporting suspicious circumstances and inadequate behavior. A noteworthy example is the incident wherein Chaplin reported to late Supervisor Davis the unjustified abandonment of her work station on the part of Ecological Operator Tracy, during a delicate waste disposal operation. Thanks to Citizen Chaplin's cooperation, the culprit has been subjected to the adequate corrective measures.

Associated behavior: The Citizen does not hesitate to do the right thing so that the community can prosper efficiently, by reporting the names of insubordinate, individualist and Antisocial Citizens.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Provocative

Report: In spite of repeated warnings, the Citizens seems unable to rein in their flirty, provocative ways, thus perturbing the peace of the honest Citizens of Bunker 101. In particular, they have provoked the rage of more than one United Citizen, made jealous by Chaplin's constant winking and smiling to their romantic partner. For this reason, Citizen Chaplin has been assigned to Citizen Kahn, who will follow them as Tutor.

Associated behavior: The Citizen never misses a chance to try and seduce people of the opposite sex with flirting and constant allusions.

CHAMBERLAIN

ARCHETYPE:

The caring doctor who wants to contact the dead

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Welfare

Level: Operator

Classification: Therapeutic

Club: Decency

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you be able to convince Sherman and Bancroft to seriously commit and improve the life of Ecological Operators? Will you make your voice heard by the new President of the Bunker? How can you show them that Marilyn and the nuclear reactor are the key to contact the dead? What do you answer to those calling you a hopeless mad?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Responsible

Report: The Citizen takes to heart the health of each and everyone of the Ecological Operators because they think they are the most vulnerable Citizens of Bunker 101 due to the contact with the radioactive waste. Citizen Chamberlain often talks to the Ecological Operators and they all trust in the Therapeutical Operator. The Citizen is not afraid to report and argue with the Secretaries of the Bunker 101 or even with the President to defend their cause. They strongly empathises with Biological Supervisor Monroe and his wife Biological Operator Holiday, poisoned and terminally ill due to the radioactive waste. Notwithstanding the repetitive requests of the husband Monroe and the Citizen Chamberlain, Citizen Holiday has not yet been authorised to leave her work position.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is strongly committed to improve the work conditions and the well-being of the Ecological Unit since they daily get in touch with radioactive waste.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Gloomy

Report: The Citizen zealously takes care of the cremation of human remains of the Citizens of Bunker 101 by using the nuclear reactor. However this activity seriously impacted their mental health. A number of Citizens saw Citizen Chamberlain talking with the nuclear reactor. When questioned the Citizen replied they were talking with the dead. This behavior seems a way to share their personal anguish, but has to be closely monitored. Citizen Chamberlain also states that each Citizen might contact the dead thanks to the low frequency waves and made a request- never accepted- to the Council of Synergy to re-configure Marilyn in order to establish a contact with the those who passed on.

Associated behavior: TThe Citizen believes that the nuclear reactor of the Bunker 101 is a channel for the afterlife. Citizen Chamberlain also believes that by modifying the parameters of Marilyn the dead might enter in contact with the living.

CHURCHILL

ARCHETYPE: The medic by vocation

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Eyser. Unused Birth Permit

Department: Welfare

Level: Operator

Classification: Therapeutic

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you keep your proverbial cool in any and all circumstances? Will you accept that it's impossible to save everyone? Will you watch over Ellington's mental health so that they don't hurt themselves again? Will you confront Lincoln about the accident that killed Weissmuller? Can you forgive yourself for your failure? Will you manage to open up about it to your beloved husband, Eyser?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Cool-headed

Report: The Citizen has more than once proven herself capable of acting in cold blood during times of crisis. When called to action in response to accidents or sudden illnesses, Citizen Churchill has always been able to respond with swiftness and practical sense, more than once becoming a key actor in a critical situation. For instance, she managed to rescue Citizen Ellington when the latter attempted suicide. Churchill's timely intervention avoided tragic consequences and effectively saved Ellington's life. As compensation for this heroic act, the Council of Synergy has awarded Churchill and her husband Eyser with a long-awaited Birth Permit.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is able to handle critical situations with competence and is a point of reference in case of medical emergencies.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Private

Report: The Citizen still has difficulties opening up about a traumatic event that nonetheless transpired a long time ago. Following a work accident during a Security Department Exploration training session, Citizen Churchill was called in to assist Citizen Weissmuller. In spite of her attempts at resuscitation, Churchill was unable to do anything and the patient died during the intervention. Although the patient's chances of survival were abysmal, Citizen Churchill feels she is to blame for the loss: being inexperienced at the time, she claims she chose the wrong course of action to try and save Weissmuller. To find closure about this event, she has promised multiple times to confront the dead Citizen's partner, Educational Operator Lincoln, with much encouragement from the rest of the Welfare Department. However, up to this moment Churchill has apparently favoured bearing this burden alone.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is nervous about members of the Security Department, because she fears someone will bring up the uncomfortable matter of Citizen Weissmuller's death.

COPPI

ARCHETYPE: The Cult's pupil

Block: Unaone

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Patton's sibling. Union with Newton (2 sons, Coppi Jr, Newton Jr.)

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you help new hearts and souls on the path towards worship of the Founder? Will your faith prove unwavering against all odds? Will you be of help to those who need it? Will you avenge the wrongs you suffered at the hands of Disney?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Enthusiastic

Report: The Citizen sports an extremely constructive, passionate attitude during work hours, and in their leisure time they are fervent and dedicated to the activities of the Tailor Club. They zealously follow the lead of the more experienced Citizen Kahn. One episode is worthy of mention: when Citizen Strickland suffered a grave loss and abused his Inebriation Permit to the point of excess, Citizen Coppi earnestly took care of him and helped him get back to his Block.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always energetic and wilful, and they spontaneously step in to help those in need. The Citizen also recalls how important is the guide of the Founder.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Vengeful

Report: The Citizen was heard speaking less-than-peaceful words about Citizen Disney in the latter's absence, stating their wish to "get back at them". This antagonism stems from an episode dating back to the past elections: when Citizen Coppi was first entrusted with the honor of leading the morning Duncanist Celebration and open the tear on the great white canvas, Citizen Disney interrupted the ceremony to deride the faithful: "you're wasting so much time sewing what you're just gonna cut again tomorrow, you'd have done better to stop playing seamstress and go vote Mastiff".

Associated behavior: In spite of their unwavering faith, the Citizen seems incapable of ignoring provocation and harbors revenge fantasies on those who have wronged them. They are especially intolerant of disrespect towards the Cult and its faithful.

CRAWFORD

ARCHETYPE: The overly-cautious braggart

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Ecological

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you need to become Supervisor to stop touching that nasty waste all the time? Do you think a good laugh can solve all problems but radiation poisoning? Can you stand the idea of seeing Citizen Holiday die? Do you think your friends laugh at your fears, even though you can't control them?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Amiable

Report: The Citizen is what one would call "a character", Jokes, quips and humorous tales are their forte and they contribute to keep up the morale of their Ecological Operator Unit through their many menial, tiring tasks. Crawford seems to always be in high spirits and they always have something to say, most of all when it comes to defending the importance of their own role and that of their colleagues. The only times when they become utterly serious are Tailor Club meetings: the Founder is no laughing matter.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always ready to joke and laugh, but in a controlled, civil manner. They have an anecdote about everything. They are very respectful of the Founder and everything that concerns the Duncanist faith.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Craven

Report: Following Citizen Holiday's illness, the Citizen has been extremely worried about the consequences of proximity to radioactive waste. Crawford is set on becoming Supervisor because they hope to substitute manual labor with coordination work, at least partially, and they have begun pestering Biological Operators on the state of the food supply, as well as demanding continuous extra appointments with Therapeutic Operators. For all their efforts to keep this phobia hidden while on duty, so as not to lose face with other Ecological Operators, the compulsion is by all intents and means beyond their control.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is obsessed with radiation and the possibility of poisoning themselves. They are worried about any signs of illness, and afraid of contracting some kind of disease. They are anxious while performing their job.

CURIE

ARCHETYPE: The loving mother

Block: Unaone

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Zatopek. Mother to Nagurski and Swahn.

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Scientific

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you want the best for your daughters? Are you interested in politics, but fear your husband is getting far too involved in them? Will you do all you can to keep up with extra-bunker expeditions? Do you want to protect your children from giving up what is dear to them in the name of family, like you were forced to do?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Giving

Report: The Citizen sees herself as a mother first, and as a scientist and the wife to a Secretary second. Her two daughters, Nagurski and Swahn, are the light of her life, and in spite of their eccentric behavior she loves them without reservations. Being aware of their oddities, she intends to guide them in the choice for the best possible partners, without rushing them into requesting a Union Permit. She always puts her own needs second, for them and for her husband, Secretary Zatopek, all without losing her smile. Were it not for her scientific mind, she would be the prototype of the perfect Duncanist.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is dutiful and active in her daughters' lives. She wants to help them find or reject a partner. In public she is always radiant and controlled, as is appropriate for the wife of a Secretary. She puts family before everything else.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Frustrated

Report: The Citizen formerly belonged to Exploration Unit Catcher and answered to the name Lie-dholm. After the birth of her daughter Swahn, affected by some form of developmental disability, she agreed with her husband that it was time to request a Reassignment. She undertook a difficult scientific preparation exam and asked her new Supervisor Einstein to give her a new name more fitting of her new Department, so as to cut all ties with the past. But this seems not to be enough. In spite of all her efforts to hide it behind the façade of a perfect wife and mother, and in spite of Supervisor Einstein's warm welcome into her Unit, the Citizen regrets being unable to take on the Extra-bunker Great Journey, now that it is finally coming to pass. She has also requested to conduct a study on the effects of the Daisy+ pill, motivated by the suspicion that assumption of the drug during her days in Exploration is what caused Swahn's disability by interfering with the pregnancy.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is disproportionately interested in the Great Journey. She suspects the Daisy+ pill might be dangerous. Although others do everything they can to forget about it, she sometimes asks to be called with her old name by her closest friends.

DARWIN

ARCHETYPE: The anxious researcher

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Disney's sibling
Department: Progress
Level: Operator
Classification: Scientific
Club: Tailor
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will your research on Daisy+ live up to the Secretary of Progress's expectations? Do you really think the Founder would have wanted you to venture into the dangers of the outside world? Will you win over your fixations to finally play a game of Bounce!? Will you make Disney understand the importance of Duncanism? Will you convince Jefferson that you don't need a Tutor? Will you show gratitude to Garbo for taking part in your experiments?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Dedicated

Report: The Citizen received a special commendation by the Secretary of Progress for their research in the field of chemistry and radiation protection. They devote particular attention to the theme, as well as a sincere interest in the safety of Exploration Operators, especially in light of the imminent Great Journey. Darwin has obtained exceptional results on a new formulation of the Daisy+ pill thanks to Biological Operator Garbo, who volunteered for a prolonged dosing regimen. Citizen Darwin also willingly took on Oppenheimer's tasks when they fell ill, working double shifts for an entire week.

Associated behavior: The Citizen shows a great sense of responsibility, attends to their tasks with dedication and understands the importance of sacrificing one's needs for the good of the community. They are always extremely scrupulous in their duties.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Neurotic

Report: The Citizen has manifested in more than one occasion less-than-appropriate behaviors during social events. Following a bout of verbal violence expressed during the past Dance to Citizen Nabokov, who according to Darwin was guilty of insisting to interview them, the Citizen was formally reported to the Welfare Department as a possible antisocial subject. They have willingly undertaken weekly sessions with Educational Operator Jefferson: during these encounters, a wide range of fixations and neuroses have emerged. These afflictions appear to intensify outside of the Citizen's work environment (loud noises, physical contact, an excessive number of people in a restricted space, a messy environment, etc.). Educational Operator Jefferson is assessing the possibility of assigning Darwin to a Tutor, considering the strategic importance of the Citizen as a Scientific Operator.

Associated behavior: The Citizen appears uneasy in social contexts, where they manifest nervous tics, borderline antisocial behavior and a generalized loss of lucidity.

DIMAGGIO

ARCHETYPE: The cryptic decrypter

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Sport

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you find the courage to talk with Educational Operator Patton and tell them what ails you so? Will you finally find someone you can trust and open your heart to? Are you willing to do anything to beat the Bounce! record and bring victory to Block Quadrafour? Will you put yourself in service of Secretary Zatopek? Will you keep an eye on hot-headed Fangio?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Talented

Report: The Citizen is known for their skill and precision as an Intelligence Operator and is undoubtedly one of the Security Department's most precious assets, enough to deserve the praise of current Secretary of Security Zatopek. A shining career awaits them. Besides being an able, wilful worker, Citizen DiMaggio is renowned for their balance and the reliability with which they carry out their tasks. It is noteworthy how Citizen DiMaggio notified the Welfare Department about the antisocial behavior of Citizen Fangio, another Intelligence Operator of much worse reliability.

Associated behavior: The Citizen religiously follows the instruction of their Supervisor and Secretary of Security Zatopek. They do not tolerate subversives and loiterers.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Cryptic

Report: The Citizen has always been a very private subject, and all attempts to make them open up and share their worries have been vain. Although they have never caused any serious problems, Citizen DiMaggio does not seem willing to cooperate with the Welfare Department. They recently made a private appointment with Educational Operator Patton, but after showing up they failed to speak, got up from the chair and left without explanation.

Associated behavior: The Citizen hates being in the limelight, with the exception of Bounce! matches, and does not speak about themselves or their feelings when in a group.

DISNEY

ARCHETYPE: The bunker's buffoon

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Darwin's sibling
Department: Ecosystem
Level: Operator
Classification: Biological
Club: Dancing
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you trademark brand of humor push the undecided into voting for Mastiff, the most progressive Club there is? Will you keep your famous good spirits and your positivity even in the darkest times? Will you eliminate the competition and keep your title as the funniest comedian in Bunker 101? Will you hold back your cutting, satirical remarks on Duncanists?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Hilarious

Report: During last year's dance, the Citizen delighted the entire population of Bunker 101 with an ironic, clever stand-up routine that elicited almost seven minutes of thundering applause. The most riveting part of the performance was a grotesque, hilarious caricature of the Welfare Department's own Educational Operators.

Associated behavior: The Citizen goes about their tasks in a vivacious, eccentric manner and often entertains their peers with the hilarious retelling of their "daily tribulations".

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Irreverent

Report: During the previous elections, the Citizen interrupted a Duncanist celebration led by Citizen Coppi with a joking remark, noting that - to quote - "you're wasting so much time sewing what you're just gonna cut again tomorrow, you'd have done better to stop playing seamstress and go vote Mastiff". Disney's embarrassing misstep was limited by their responsible, moderate brother, Darwin.

Associated behavior: The Citizen tends to advocate for Mastiffs even when this activism is inappropriate. They also never miss a chance to tease or provoke Duncanists.

EARHART

ARCHETYPE: The stern technician

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Male
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Red
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Widowed father to Loik.
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Exploration control
Club: Elephant
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Are you willing to do anything to defend Exploration Operators, both from detractors and from the great unknown? Do you need someone to help you mend your relationship with Loik? Do you think being the best at one's job should be every Citizen's aim? Do you think this makes you a great Elephant and even a valid candidate for Presidency?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Reliable

Report: The Citizen has been a constant source of inspiration for Exploration Operators, who know they can count on his support from the control center when they set out to face the unknown. Recruit Carnera defined him "A great father to our brave family". Everyone praises him for precision and efficiency: knowing he will guide the Great Journey from the base is a reassurance to all Operators. Some Elephant supporters advocate for his nomination as their next presidential candidate.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is protective and involved in the fate of all Exploration Operators, but he is never fazed by personal favorites or sentimentalism. He always has a good word for everyone.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Grieving

Report: The Citizen has thus far been unable to accept the sudden death of his wife, Garros. This has driven a wedge between him and his child, Loik. Earhart neglected his offspring during their formative years and now he only entertains formal relations with them, without managing to put a stop to their excesses, especially in the field of sports. The Citizen lives to work and has never before seriously thought about a political career. He experiences his broken family as a personal failure.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is cold to his child and reluctant to speak about his wife. He sometimes gets to the verge of tears with no forewarning, and is unable to cry or speak. He needs encouragement to take his political career seriously.

EINSTEIN

ARCHETYPE: The conservative scientist

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Female
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage, Union
Ties: Union with Fibonacci
Department: Progress
Level: Supervisor
Classification: Scientific
Club: Decency
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you want to show your male colleagues that femininity can go hand in hand with professional excellence? Will you tame your subordinates' raw talent? Will you stop Faraday from spreading their lies? Will you convince your husband to let you devote your full attention to the Great Journey? Do you feel that agreeing to carry a son would let your only remnant of freedom escape you forever, like what happened to Curie?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Proper

Report: The Citizen is a shining example of moral integrity, embodying the qualities of a proper lady of Bunker 101: as a wife she is elegant and humble, and as Supervisor she leads her Operators with a smile, wearing velvet gloves without ever exposing the iron claws beneath. She has a central role in the Decency Club and is always ready to help other ladies to carry themselves like respectable daughters of the bunker. On the job, her greatest endeavor is to contain the extravagant theories conjured by her more whimsical colleagues: she toils day and night to stop Citizen Faraday's alarmist theories on the side effects of Daisy and Daisy+ from poisoning the minds of the general populations. As a respectable scientist, Citizen Einstein knows well that the past and present efforts of her peers make anti-radiation pills safer and safer every day. Her presence has also been of great support to Scientific Operator Curie: she herself chose a new name for Curie, formerly Liedholm, when the latter was Reassigned to the Progress Department after the birth of her first daughter Swahn, and Einstein's friendship has greatly aided Curie's integration to her new Unit.

Associated behavior: The Citizen places great importance in appearances and is careful to always show an amiable, courteous façade. She speaks softly, never chortles and never treats a colleague coldly, with the sole exception of Faraday, the only case where her strong moral fiber takes priority. With her husband Fibonacci, she always tries to minimize her social standing. She is protective of Curie.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Frigid

Report: In spite of her impeccable public conduct, the Citizen has been the subject of multiple complaints on her husband's part. Citizen Fibonacci reports that his wife is unwilling to carry out her marital duty and request a Birth Permit, although she is of fertile age and of the best genetic disposition. During calibration sessions, Einstein is evasive on the matter; when pressed by Educational Operator Nelson she admitted to being reluctant to leave her post because of pregnancy, and pointed to the imminent Great Journey that will put the Scientific Unit's continued efforts to the test as a reason to focus on work. After this confession, she hastily left the session and failed to show up to the next appointment.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is made uneasy by any and all mentions of Birth Permits, and fervently supports the Elephant Club's electoral program, which advocates for a reduction in new births in response to overpopulation. She devotes all her energies to the Great Journey and uses it as a shield against her duties as a wife. She seems genuinely unnerved by Educational Operator Nelson.

EISENHOWER

ARCHETYPE: The shoulder to cry on

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: -
Ties: Tutored by Carnera
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Therapeutic
Club: Mastiff
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you make the world see that the true worth of men cannot be ranked on a Scale ruled by cold numbers? Is Citizen Grezar truly the shining example you chose to defend? What can you do to ease the pains of those who suffer because of radiation? Is there a way to escape the atomic curse or is humanity doomed to slowly decay beneath the Earth, just like the waste that surrounds the bunker?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Comforting

Report: The Citizen stands out as a Therapeutic Operator for their ability to comfort their patients and stop them from spiraling into antisocial behavior caused by resentment. Theirs is a stabilizing presence which often proves more important than the medical care they offer, itself. They have taken a particular interest in the cause of radiation poisoning, often insisting to personally take charge of the victims of this blight, like in the case of Citizen Holiday, whom they have faithfully assisted through the decline of her physical health.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always attentive and willing to take care of people poisoned by radiation, and is particularly empathetic towards Exploration and Ecological Operators, as they live in closer contact to the radioactive threat.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unrepentant

Report: The Citizen was caught in the act as they administered unauthorized doses of Daisy+ to Citizen Grezar, who has been subjected to a routine reduction of anti-radiation medication after passing 40 years of age. Before the Committee summoned to judge them, Eisenhower acted unapologetic, stating that Citizen Grezar "is a perfect role model for new generations of Exploration Operators and letting them die of radiation would be humanity's gravest mistake after the invention of the cobalt bomb". They are also suspected of trafficking Daisy+ to other Citizens they deem important to the survival of the bunker, but it has been impossible to collect enough evidence or testimony to prove their guilt. Given the entity of their crimes, they have nonetheless been assigned to Tutor Carnera.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has developed a personal evaluation scale, which they use to judge the merits of other Citizens of the bunker, and tries to help the most deserving at the cost of breaking the law.

ELLINGTON

ARCHETYPE: The victim of forbidden love

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Continuerai a struggerti per il tuo amore proibito? Ritroverai la voglia di vivere? Saprai chiedere aiuto a Churchill prima che sia troppo tardi? Considerai a un fratello Duncanista il tuo tentativo di farti del male? Continuerai a frenare quella testa calda del tuo caro amico Bernhardt? Will you be consumed by your forbidden love? Will you find new will to live? Will you manage to ask Churchill for help before it's too late? Will you tell a Duncanist brother about your self-harm? Will you keep holding back your dear hot-headed friend Bernhardt?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Mellow

Report: The Citizen is known for their subdued tone of voice and the amiable ways they use to interact with the other Citizen of Bunker 101. A notable example would be their ability to moderate the extreme, unwarranted reactions of their friend and colleague, Biological Operator Bernhard, whose company is greatly valued by Ellington. During one of the frequent arguments in which Citizen Bernhardt keeps getting involved, Ellington was able to subdue their coworker and avoid further confrontations.

Associated behavior: The Citizen does not seek to impose their viewpoint in a conversation, instead constantly trying to find an agreement between the contenders. Furthermore, they are always gentle and polite towards others.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Self-destructive

Report: The Citizen was recently caught in the middle of a grave act of self-harm during the night. Therapeutic Operator Churchill promptly came to their aid. The physical damage was not yet serious, but Citizen Churchill soon realized they had walked in on a suicide attempt. They thus invited Citizen Ellington to share the reasons that pushed them to such a senseless extreme, and Ellington confessed to feeling a forbidden, impure kind of love. When called to explain the nature of these feelings, Citizen Ellington offered no further explanation to Churchill. The conditions of Citizen Ellington have been steadily improving in the weeks since the incident, partly thanks to the company of Citizen Churchill, who seems to have taken Ellington's case to heart.

Associated behavior: The Citizen shows little regard for their own life and everything that surrounds them, yet their self-preservation instinct brings them to constantly seek new challenges and exciting experiences that may give them back their passion for life.

EWRY

ARCHETYPE: The bunker's executor

Block: Unaone

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Security

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Sport

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you see the hunted look in the Citizens' eye when you walk in the Bunker? Has your role become a burden? Will you follow the orders of the elected President? Do you just want to think about Bounce!? Has your heart warmed for the first time in so many years? Was the Exile of Garbo's father a mistake? Will you speak with your dear and trusted friend Robespierre?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Resolute

Report: The Citizen shines for their iron sense of duty and their impeccable manners. Their cool, blunt ways make them the favorite go-to of the Council of Synergy in times of need, like in the case of the Exile sentence passed on Citizen Lautrec, father to Citizen Garbo, who had been accused to setting fire to the labs researching Daisy+ pills. Everyone knows Citizen Ewry will deliver on whatever task they're given. When duty calls them elsewhere, they entrust their most delicate tasks to Citizen Fangio, a quarrelsome but obedient soul who never fails to follow their Supervisor's orders. Ewry seems to find some manner of relaxation only in good music, a good game of Bounce! and a good chat with their trustful friend the Citizen Robespierre. The Citizen Ewry completely trusts them and often consults with the Educational Operator Robespierre.

Associated behavior: The Citizen knows they are entrusted with great responsibilities and are ready to shoulder the burden.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unnerving

Report: The Citizen is excessively cold and inhuman in carrying out their most delicate tasks. Those who are subjected to his questioning, like Olsen and Sinatra, lament being psychologically threatened. Ewry does not tolerate people acting over the top, like Citizen Majorana with his unrestrained dances. Furthermore, being the designed executor of the rare Exile sentences passed in Bunker 101 makes it easy for the meek to circulate rumors about Ewry's sadistic vein. It is said that "if Ewry takes you out for a walk, you'll never go back to your Block".

Associated behavior: The Citizen strikes fear into people by simply being politely interested in them.

EYSER

ARCHETYPE: The enemy of technology

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Churchill. Unused Birth Permit.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Explorer

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you understand what torments your wife, Churchill? Will you take care of your friends Grezar and Bogart? Will you rein in your natural enmity towards Logistical Operators, especially cold, insensitive Schrödinger? Will you help other Elephants see that Donkeys are the real threat, not enthusiastic Mastiffs? Will you limit the power of that damned electronic brain, Marilyn?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Passionate

Report: Citizen Eysen is motivated by intense positive feelings towards his colleagues, his friends, and his wife, Citizen Churchill. An example is his tight bond to Citizen Grezar and the support he offers when the latter is prey to sickness. Citizen Eysen is also a dear friend to Citizen Bogart, a perturbed individual who constantly wonders about the presence of humans outside Bunker 101. When Bogart was accused of antisocial behavior because of this "excessively abstract and philosophical disposition", Citizen Eysen testified in their favor with the following statement: "thought is an asset, not a flaw of humanity".

Associated behavior: The Citizen wishes for the happiness of those that surround him, and toils so that his friends and relatives are able to pursue it. He does not hide his affinity, nor the occasional enmity towards other Citizens of Bunker 101.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Technophobe

Report: The Citizen has always been clear in declaring his opposition towards an excessive responsabilization of electronic brain Marilyn. The Citizen believes that "we should prove ourselves worthy of our fathers and not rely on a machine like idiots, no matter how exceptional it is". While this is an acceptable political stance, it has often manifested through unwarranted lectures and outbursts directed not only towards the Donkey Club, but Logistical Operators as well. One particularly worrying case is that of his intolerable behavior towards talented Logistical Operator Schrödinger. Eysen has repeatedly insulted said Citizen, calling them "a slave to a machine".

Associated behavior: The Citizen constantly voices his dislike of the Donkey Club and the electronic brain Marilyn, saying that man should not depend on machines to survive.

FANGIO

ARCHETYPE: The militaristic brute

Block: Unaone
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation
Ties:
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Intelligence
Club: Sport
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you stand against the antimilitaristic stances that are circulating inside Bunker 101? Will you remain faithful to Supervisor Ewry at all costs? Will you keep an eye on riotous Nelson? Will you unmask the snitch that told the Educational Operators you're a fanatic? Will you show that loser, Turing, that they can never beat you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Devoted

Report: The Citizen is dedicated to order and discipline, and wishes to make their Department a jewel on the crown of Bunker 101. They hold Intelligence Supervisor Ewry in high esteem: they follow his orders to the letter and never miss a chance to sing their praises. Fangio's dedication in verbally opposing all those who speak against the Security Department is also worthy of note. An example is Citizen Nelson, guilty of repeatedly voicing their sarcastic thoughts on the militarization of Intelligence Operators, who has often referred to Fangio and their colleagues as "zealots" and "thugs". Citizen Fangio has always endeavored to put a stop to these defeatist, destructive attitudes.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is devoted to the cause of the Security Department and especially to Supervisor Ewry. They are not afraid of exposing themselves in the first person to defend difficult decisions and hard stances taken by Security Supervisors and Operators.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Quarrelsome

Report: The Citizen often acts menacingly towards civilians, and speaks in excessively exalted tones about the "glory of Security Operators". An Intelligence Unit colleague who asked to remain anonymous has reported riotous and exaggerated behavior in response to criticism directed towards the Security Department. It has been noted that Citizen Fangio is generally the first to look for a fight. During a Bounce! match they repeatedly insulted the team of Block Pentafive, particularly Citizen Turing, guilty of telling them to "cool down".

Associated behavior: The Citizen often looks for verbal confrontation and is full of insolent, threatening comments for those who manifest dissent towards their stances.

FARADAY

ARCHETYPE: The unorthodox chemist

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Marciano's Tutor.
Department: Progress
Level: Operator
Classification: Scientific
Club: Tailor
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you lead the scientific team towards a significant discovery? Will you hold close to your role as the Tutor of Citizen Marciano, so crucial to your studies on Mutants? Will you find a way to make others take seriously your hypothesis that Mutants are a real menace and not an old wives' tale? Are you ready to sow the seeds of fear to get attention? Do you really believe that they long-term effects of Daisy+ can turn a man into a monster?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Lateral thinking

Report: The Citizen has a solid base of knowledge as a chemist, but what makes them truly precious is their ability to think outside the box. They take nothing for granted and are always ready to tread new paths, even forcing the hand of more anxious and conservative scientists such as Citizen Darwin. They know well that the empirical method is made of trials and errors to learn from, and they apply this notion to the personal sphere as well, by throwing themselves fearlessly into new experiences. Their adherence to the Tailor Club bears all the marks of an experiment: the analytical mind as applied to Duncanism.

Associated behavior: The Citizen contributes to teamwork with constructive criticism. They invite their colleagues to follow untreaded paths and reassures them on the possible consequences. They always look like they have everything under control.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Without half measures

Report: When embracing a new idea, the Citizen always carries it to the furthest implications, seemingly unaffected by the possible consequences. After becoming the Tutor of Citizen Marciano, who claims to have sighted a Mutant during their training as an Exploration Operator (this was the reason behind Marciano's Reassignment to Intelligence), Citizen Faraday has developed a morbid fixation for Mutants. They craft theories and tell stories that, coming from a respected scientist, stop sounding like old wives' tales to the ears of their listeners, thus feeding unnecessary alarmism. Faraday claims to be performing a series of tests to rule out the possibility that long-term assumption of Daisy+ pills could bring about a genetic mutation in Exploration Operators themselves.

Associated behavior: The Citizen riddles Citizen Marciano with questions about what they claim to have seen and heard. They are utterly nonchalant about exposing their theories to others. They speak of Mutants as if they were a believable hypothesis. They trace their origins back to humans with a moderate amount of certainty.

FERMI

ARCHETYPE: The touchy perfectionist

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Progress

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Logistical

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you think that Marilyn is the only mind that can match up to yours? Do you want to replace the dysfunctional cogs of your Unit? What is the Bunker's greatest imperfection? Do you really believe a friendless person could become President? What are you willing to do to impose your view of the world?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Impeccable

Report: The Citizen shines for their sheer insight on their role. One would suspect a special affinity between their mind and that of the electronic brain, Marilyn, such is Fermi's ability to coordinate Logistical Operators around the screens. It would be inappropriate to speak of a great team spirit, rather the Unit is a forced coexistence of talented but difficult personalities, and the Citizen manages to lead them by example, pure and simple. By being constantly perfect, the best at what they do.

Associated behavior: The Citizen demands perfection, from themselves and from others. They never raise their voice, preferring to correct mistakes by themselves and show how to avoid them in the future.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Compulsive

Report: The Citizen is never satisfied. On the job and in private, they can be exasperating with their demands to always do things in the best possible way. Their way. They do not seem capable of distinguishing between important tasks and small, trivial parts of daily life. This behavior has made them unlikable in the eyes of some Citizens and keeps everyone else at a distance, as if nobody could be a match for them. Fermi has long been courted by the Donkey Club and in the end they have decided to enter politics, with the declared goal of increasing the bunker's efficiency through a higher level of automatization. To them, nobody is better than Marilyn.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is obsessed by order and efficiency. They cannot stand to be touched, or to find their station altered in any way. They would entrust Bunker 101 entirely to Marilyn, if only it was up to them.

FIBONACCI

ARCHETYPE: The ambitious troublemaker

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Inebriation

Ties: Union with Einstein

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Logistical

Club: Sport

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you show everyone what you're really made of? Will you make Secretary of Progress Volta notice you? Will you show your wife that you're a real man, although she's Supervisor and you're not? Will you confront Tracy? Will you gain a better rank on the Schneider Scale?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Enterprising

Report: The Citizen is an industrious worker with a great sense of initiative and has recently been commended by Secretary of Progress Volta for detecting a potential radioactive threat which had been overlooked by his colleague Oppenheimer, who has been reprimanded for the grave oversight. Citizen Fibonacci's resourcefulness has won him an Inebriation Permit.

Associated behavior: The Citizen constantly works to better life inside Bunker 101, particularly by trying to protect its denizens by the dangers of radiation.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Overbearing

Report: The Citizen shows a clear tendency towards prevarication and hubris, manifested through frequent verbal altercations and fights. He was recently reprimanded by Citizen Tracy following one such instance of intemperate behavior. Citizen Fibonacci had been verbally attacking Citizen Keaton, deriding them for their "freakish relationship" to the other sex, indicating a lack of desire for companionship. Tracy defended Keaton and provoked Citizen Fibonacci, who had to be held down by three people while he assured Tracy he would "make her pay!".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is often guilty of bullying the meekest, weakest denizens of the bunker.

FITZGERALD

ARCHETYPE: The absent-minded scholar

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Archivist

Club: Decency

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you earn Picasso's forgiveness for your awful mistake? Is there some way to pass on the memory of the Cavernauts, now that those tapes are gone? Will you ever learn to moderate your burning desire to help? Are you an example of elegance for the Dancing Club? Are you willing to do anything for a discovery that may redeem you in the eyes of the Memory Department?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Keen

Report: The Citizen is unparalleled in their enthusiasm for archiving the history that predates the bunker, and in general for all the tasks assigned to them by the Memory Department. They have greatly reduced their colleagues' workload by volunteering to handle Club management and coordination in the first person, earning the respect of the Decency Club for their willingness to help: after entering the Club, they meticulously studied all archived documents relative to pre-Bunker fashion and style, so as to better counsel their peers.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is an enthusiastic worker, always ready to do all they can in order to assist their colleagues. Their priority is Club management, since they have volunteered to take charge of it, and they try to handle it to the best of their possibilities.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Forgetful

Report: The Citizen needs close observation on the part of their Supervisor, because they tend to commit mistakes due to distraction or exhaustion for an excess of work. The "Adventures of the Cavernauts" incident is an emblematic example: during a routine inventory operation which continued late into the night, the Citizen confused the five tapes containing the educational radio drama written and performed by Citizen Picasso with recycling material. The mistake was not detected by their colleagues, who had gone back to their Blocks for the night at Fitzgerald's well-meaning insistence, and the only existing recordings of the radio drama were overwritten over the next few days, causing the loss of this brilliant example of radio entertainment. Citizen Fitzgerald was mortified by the incident, but keeps undertaking an excessive amount of work.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is unable to correctly assess their current workload, and tends to take charge of new tasks regardless of their realistic ability to handle them.

GABLE

ARCHETYPE: The prophet of leisure

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you fight to become the most prominent member of the Donkey Club? Will you convince the bunker's Citizens to entrust more and more work to Marilyn so that you can all kick back and enjoy life? Will you put a stop to Owens's pedantic nagging? Will you have fun courting the prettiest girls in Bunker 101? Will you get back at Nagurski for being so irritating?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Genuine

Report: The Citizen had been previously reported as a slacker, but after joining the Donkey Club he seems to have turned his weakness into the cornerstone of his political stance: Citizen Gable is indeed a fervent supporter of Marilyn, as a greater "responsabilization" of the electronic brain would guarantee Citizens of Bunker 101 more free time to devote to their hobbies and loved ones. The members of Club Donkey reminisce with a mix of disconcert and trepidation about the rhetoric battles between Gable and Citizen Owens, an Intelligence Operator who could be said to be his political rival within the party.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is passionate about spreading his view, according to which "Marilyn should be the one who slaves away while we enjoy the good life of the bunker".

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Harrasser

Report: Some female Citizens of Bunker 101 have reported Citizen Gable for his inappropriate behavior. The main complaint was that Citizen Gable finds it particularly satisfying to bother the fittest, prettiest girls attending a Dance with leering, seductive compliments. When questioned by Educational Operators, the Citizen showed surprise at the notion, saying they were irreprehensible, and only looking for their one true love among Citizens who haven't yet requested a Union Permit. For the sake of completeness, an unfortunate incident involving Citizen Nagurski: the latter stepped in to defend her sister, Citizen Swahn, who had been the victim of Gable's unwanted romantic advances.

Associated behavior: The Citizen tends to have fun courting young women, and his advances often teeter on the verge of scandalous for a respectable bachelor of the Bunker. Gable couldn't care less about social norms.

GARBO

ARCHETYPE: The self-sacrificing orphan

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties: Sibling of Junior Lautrec

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Sport

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you erase the memory of your father's Exile? Will you make Olsen and Faraday stop spreading lies about the Daisy pills? Will you shoulder all the burdens nobody else can bear? Do you regret volunteering for Darwin's harmful experiments?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Willing to sacrifice

Report: The Citizen did not shed a tear when they said their last goodbye to their father, Citizen Lautrec, soon before he was sentenced to Exile and led to Area 1K by Supervisor Ewry. Everyone knows Lautrec left the Chemical laboratory moments before a devastating fire erupted, greatly slowing the progress on the production of the Daisy+ pill. The accusations of treason issued against Lautrec were put in doubt by many Citizens, one of which was Olsen, but the expeditious investigation conducted by the Security Department ruled otherwise. Ever since that day, Citizen Garbo devoted every fiber of their being to erasing the memory of their father and becoming the support of the entirety of Bunker 101.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is devoted to personal sacrifice and they firmly believe they can make Bunker 101 a better place. They often volunteer to shoulder burdens others find unbearable.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Obsessive

Report: The Citizen was traumatized by the accusations of treason issued against their father Lautrec. Garbo disavows any mention of him and cannot stand people like Olsen or Faraday, who propose that Daisy and Daisy+ pills are a menace to the health of all Citizens. As a way to atone for their father's sins they have volunteered to subject themselves to a prolonged dosing regimen of experimental pills in Citizen Darwin's laboratory.

Associated behavior: The Citizen does not hide their sacrifice in the name of research on Daisy pills, as if it was the only way to distance themselves from their father's betrayal. They do, however, do their best to hide any symptoms of the experimentation.

GOYA

ARCHETYPE: The frivolous busybody

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Chronicler

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you convince Lacoste to give Puskas a child? Will you find a companion for the most extravagant and lonely souls of Bunker 101? Will you feed the raciest rumors and discover the sauciest secrets of your fellow Citizens? Will you manage to hide your insufferance towards those who treat everything like a great tragedy?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Systematic

Report: The Citizen is both diligent and punctual, a valid counterpoint to a Department known for the abstraction and impulsivity of its members. Citizen Goya's precision was able to mix business with pleasure: during work hours they work on Society Chronicle and in their leisure time they are member of the Dancing Club. It is worthy to dwell on the exemplary care with which Citizen Goya approached the search for the best possible mate to Citizen Puskas. The choice fell on Citizen Lacoste and ensured the two members of Block Unaone entered a profitable union. But the efforts of Citizen Goya did not end there: ever since the Union was ratified, they have been diligently following Citizen Lacoste, who seems inexplicably unwilling to birth a child for Bunker 101. With frequent conversations and motivational speeches, Goya works day and night to try and persuade Citizen Lacoste to finally make use of the Birth License she was awarded for saving Citizen Hepburn and specimen Ginger.

Associated behavior: The Citizen endeavors with systematic and persistent precision to form solid and prolific couples among the still-lonely Citizens of Bunker 101.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Vapid

Report: In their activities as a Chronicler Operator, the Citizen tends to give too much weight to gossip and hearsay, at the expense of other topics. The Welfare Department has also been informed of an unfortunate squabble that ensued between Goya and Citizen Picasso because of the latter's unique zeal in preserving all manner of testimony, even the most trivial. Citizen Goya was about to commit a grave mistake and erase material of great testimonial value, and was stopped by Picasso. After reacting with bored condescension to their colleague's recriminations, Goya derided them and told them not to worry so much about trivialities, causing them to leave the scene in a rage.

Associated behavior: The Citizen constantly devotes their time to idle gossip and finds it hard to face more serious topics with maturity and politeness. When the circumstances force them to, they appear to be devoid of tact and sensibility.

GRANT

ARCHETYPE: The current President of the bunker

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Welfare

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Educational

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do anything to keep Bunker 101 and its Citizens safe? Will you convince the Elephant Club to choose you as their candidate for the next elections? And if you end up staying in the Council as Outgoing President, will you support your successor? Even if they happen to be part of a different Club? In case of emergency, do you think you'll have the strength to make difficult choices? What mark will you impress upon history?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Intuitive

Report: The Citizen has been shown to possess a sixth sense that allows her to quickly assess both people and situations. She is not simply famous for being born under a lucky star, she is able to look at a problem under many different lights and to propose multiple solutions. As President, she dared to bring to completion the project of the extra-bunker Great Journey, which her predecessors had always put off, discouraged by the astonishing risks of the expedition. President Grant is more content with leading the Council of Synergy through her brilliance, rather than leverage on the authority the community assigned her.

Associated behavior: The Citizen attributes great importance to gut feelings. She has an inexhaustible wealth of solutions for any problem. She can be very persuasive. She wants to always get the last word.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Insecure

Report: Precisely because she knows there are multiple solutions to every problem, the Citizen always fears she will fail to see them all and miss the best possible one. When intuition does not guide her choices, she wants to carefully weigh the pros and cons of every option, trusting the different fields of expertise of her Secretaries or any specialist in the matter of discussion. She is grateful to Duncanists, who were important to her election, but she cares about the opinions of all sides and would like to make everyone happy. She sometimes doubts she is worthy of her role.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always wants a second opinion. She sometimes has difficulties taking a hard stance. She occasionally wants to have her cake, and eat it too.

GREZAR

ARCHETYPE: The irreplaceable expert

Block: Unaone

Gender: Unisex

Age: 40+

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Exploration

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

You've waited for the Great Journey all your life: are you really up to the task? Do you believe there's nobody tougher than you in this bunker? Do you want to prove that age is the dumbest way to determine a person's worth? Do you feel a debt of gratitude towards Citizen Eisenhower?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Nerves of steel

Report: The Citizen has registered many record-breaking performances during their physical training in youth. They were not upset by the repeated postponing of the Great Journey, and instead kept training, coaching young Exploration Operators day after day. Together with Citizen Eyser, to whom they claim to be bound by a brotherly friendship, they have always been a pillar of the Extra-bunker exploration operation. And a pillar of the community, with their political engagement in the Elephant Club, where their presence is considered essential.

Associated behavior: The Citizen prefers facts to words. They never give in to their temper. They know they are the best, without needing to shove it in people's faces.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

In denial about their age

Report: The Citizen, having reached 40 years of age, sees the normal reduction of their rights as an injustice. They have petitioned with the Elephant Club for the party to take a bold stance and increase the age of reduction, although their only supporter is Citizen Brando. They have been caught taking unauthorized doses of Daisy+ pills, outside Exploration simulations, to compensate for the reduction of Daisy dosage due to their age. When called to testify against Therapeutic Operator Eisenhower, declared guilty of this illegal trafficking, They refused to cooperate, only answering with thunderous silence.

Associated behavior: The Citizen shows gratitude towards Citizen Eisenhower. They act as a point of reference to Citizens past 40 years of age and are unhappy with the current health care for their category. They never miss a chance to propagandize on the matter with other people. As a side effect of the excessive dosage of Daisy+, they occasionally suffer from splitting headaches that lead to spasms and convulsions.

HEMINGWAY

ARCHETYPE: The current Secretary of Memory

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Archival

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do all you can to prove the Memory Department is vital to the bunker? Do you believe charisma and pretty words can win over everything? Will you live up to the myth of courage you keep celebrating, once you're in a real emergency? Is there someone who can leave you in awe?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Combative

Report: The Citizen is determined to prove the importance of the Department of Memory, sometimes unfairly considered a "whim of the Founder", only made possible by the overpopulation caused by the unexpected arrival of our Pentafive forefathers. They carry the burden of voicing Chronicler and Archival Operators through passionate speeches, far from the "bookworm" stereotype often associated with them. They don't let neither the Council of Synergy, nor their own Department, walk over them, and they coordinate their Supervisors and Operators like a war general.

Associated behavior: The Citizen speaks in a thunderous voice to celebrate the strength and importance of words through their own example. They are a leader capable of listening and inspiring. They have no fear of standing up to the President herself.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Over the top

Report: The Citizen seems to think of themselves as a symbol for the ability to communicate and make good journalism, more than one of the many useful cogs in the mechanism of the community. They openly condemn meekness, reservation and deserved rest, pushing their subordinates to challenge their limits to the point of recklessness. They abhor compromises, easy way out and everything that is not "taking the bull by its horns". As a Duncanist, they are positive that the Founder paved the way and that people can aspire to live up to Him. They understand that limitations to the freedom of press are necessary, but sometimes they seem torn on the matter.

Associated behavior: The Citizen thinks highly of themselves. They often compare themselves to the Founder. They push those who surround them towards their ideal of courage, with little thought to the consequences.

HEPBURN

ARCHETYPE: The grand, humble poet

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you find the courage to tell Puskas he doesn't deserve a woman like Lacoste? Will you make yourself useful to those who truly need it? Will you make Patton see that you're truly unhappy with your job? Will you dare introduce yourself to Kerouac and show them your poems? Will you finally realize that you have great talent?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Grateful

Report: The Citizen has always set themselves apart by the kindness with which they treat their fellow man, as well as the affection they hold for those who were good to them, one way or the other. A noteworthy example is the immense gratitude Hepburn shows towards the famous heroine of the bunker, Citizen Lacoste. During a fire in the Ginger laboratory, Lacoste saved Hepburn's life as well as the specimen's, thus earning their eternal gratitude. The Citizen reported serious respiratory damage because of the accident, but they do not spend a day without lavishing Citizen Lacoste with praise, at the cost of earning the ill-will of their savior's authoritative husband, Citizen Puskas.

Associated behavior: The Citizen manifests their gratitude to their savior Lacoste by trying to make themselves useful day after day, helping anyone who needs a hand or a kind word. Their lungs still suffer from the accident, leading to occasional coughing fits.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Distracted

Report: In spite of frequent warnings, the Citizen often has their mind elsewhere during work hours. They frequently fail to pay attention to what they're told, and are generally not focused on their current task. After being questioned by Educational Operator Patton during an emotional calibration session, Citizen Hepburn confessed to being unhappy about their Assignment and wishing to become an Archival Operator. When asked why, they replied: "In the Memory museum I read that one ought, every day at least, to hear a little song, read a good poem, see a fine picture, and, if it were possible, to speak a few reasonable words". Citizen Hepburn has also admitted to often being distracted because they are busy composing short poems that they would love- to quote- "to have the guts to show to the great artist, Archival Operator Kerouac".

Associated behavior: The Citizen frequently has their head in the clouds: they sometimes lose track of their surroundings, find a secluded spot and put on paper poetic verses of their own invention.

HITCHCOCK

ARCHETYPE: The master of pranks

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you believe Duncanism, art and history to be important and too often ignored? Do you think that even frivolous matters like Bounce! or dancing deserve your attention? Will you entertain a nice conversation with a Secretary, or even the President herself? Will you come up with a memorable prank and get everyone's attention?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Solemn

Report: The Citizen has a distinguished air and courteous manners that belie their humble origins. They encourage their colleagues to discuss loftier topics and their Tailor Club activities have contributed to giving them a certain philosophical depth. They often claim that dirty hands do not call for a lazy mind and often seek the company of more learned Citizens, being set on learning new things. They attend Memory Department events as often as they can, but they also try to never miss a Bounce! match. They aspire to become a true polymath.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is as ready to learn as they are to teach. They move with slow elegance. They love entertaining lofty conversations. They find great satisfaction in being able to explain something to someone.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Irreverent

Report: In spite of their impeccable manners, the Citizen has a foolish fixation on playing pranks. They have more than once been reported for disturbing the sleep of the entire Block Quadrofour, for drawing a face on the Bounce! ball or for other similar stunts. They are not motivated by anything comprehensible, such as rivalry or resentment towards someone in particular, they simply find childlike entertainment in flamboyant, silly tomfoolery. They especially revel in making their exploits public and do not seem to fear any consequence.

Associated behavior: The Citizen loves pulling elaborate pranks. They are always looking for accomplices. They are tremendously amused by the public results of these stunts, abandoning all dignity to laugh at the outcome.

HOLIDAY

ARCHETYPE: The radiation-poisoned wife

Block: Unaone
Gender: Female
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Red
Permits: Suffrage, Union
Ties: Union with Monroe
Department: Ecosystem
Level: Operator
Classification: Ecological
Club: Mastiff
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you keep yourself busy to avoid thinking about your impending death? Is this why you want to become Supervisor? What place does faith have in your life? Do you really think you can change things through politics and Mastiffs? Are you afraid your husband will do something stupid after you die?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Wilful

Report: The Citizen is a natural leader, guiding others through example. She never holds back and knows how to make her voice heard without oppressing others. Much beloved by Ecological Operators, she is particularly close to Citizen Ellington: they grew up together in Block Pentafive, before Holiday moved to Block Unaone following her surprising marriage to Citizen Monroe. In spite of everything, she is able to joke with her Therapeutic Operator, Eisenhower, even now that her health is rapidly declining: she laments a sharp increase in spasms and splitting headaches.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is able to hold her ground. She keeps the promises she makes, and she often undertakes new tasks. She faces adversity with strength. She frequently suffers from spasms, convulsions, and splitting headaches.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Resentful

Report: The Citizen suffers from a grave form of radiation poisoning and only has a few months left to live. She is positive her contamination is due to her radioactive waste disposal activities, and instead of finding dignity in resignation, she has taken it upon herself to change the state of things. This has polarized her political stance and soured her relationship with the Citizen she sees as "privileged". The only exception appears to be her husband, Biological Supervisor Monroe, with whom she shares a deep affection.

Associated behavior: The Citizen feels she has nothing to lose. She resents authorities and uses work hours to spread propaganda. She has ceased all attempts at integration within Block Unaone, and favors the company of Pentafives.

JACOVACCI

ARCHETYPE: The ruthless conservative

Block: Unaone
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Exploration
Club: Dancing
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do everything in your power to stop people of different Blocks from compromising the healthy traditions and rightful balance of Bunker 101 by intermarrying? Are you sure Owens really has set his feelings aside and stopped seeing Tracy? Will you keep the rabble from other Blocks in their places? Will you manage to hide the morbid pleasure you feel when you witness the suffering of the weak? Will you make Spooner feel guilty? Will you keep Gailey from participating to an Extra-bunker mission?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Traditionalist

Report: The Citizen is a paragon of morality and respectability for all citizens of Bunker 101, and particularly for Block Unaone. Jacovacci's respect towards the healthy habits of the past and their hostility towards disorder and anarchy are worthy of commendation. Their steadfast refusal to allow mixed marriages between members of different Blocks where the proposed Union would have been inappropriate has helped dissuade a number of unproductive relationships. An emblematic case is the Union requested by Citizen Owens Unaone and Citizen Tracy, a riotous, untameable spirit from Block Pentafive. Citizen Jacovacci petitioned with the Council of Synergy to have the Permit refused. Citizen Owens seems to have accepted this decision with grace.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is openly hostile to all forms of flirting and Unions between members of different Blocks. They also see themselves as an example of moderation and good manners, and are ready to chastise and denounce antisocial, inappropriate behavior.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Cruel

Report: The Citizen has never made a mystery of their harshness when it comes to limiting antisocial and subversive behavior in other denizens of Bunker 101. However, their complete insensitivity to other people's plights has been cause for worry. Some claim that Citizen Jacovacci takes pleasure in crushing others. An example would be their criticism on the reliability of their colleague Spooner, guilty of accidentally killing Citizen Weissmuller and her child. Another, their malicious comments on the fact that Strickland could very well spend more time at work, since his wife and daughter are no longer waiting for him in his Block. Jacovacci is also adamant that Citizen Gailey Terrathree does not give what it takes to participate in an Extra-bunker mission. To quote, they consider Gailey a "spiteful, envious rebel".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is cynical and often criticizes the frailty of their peers, taking pleasure in their suffering and humiliation.

JEFFERSON

ARCHETYPE: The optimist at all costs

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Educational
Club: Donkey
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you safeguard the positive mindset of the bunker's Citizens? Will you isolate and micromanage pessimistic and brooding subjects? Will you have depressed Truman relieved of their duties as Therapeutic Supervisor for the good of the bunker? Will you run for President to show everyone that optimism and trust in Marilyn are the key to a shining future?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Positive

Report: The Citizen sees great therapeutic potential in a positive, optimistic disposition. They have repeatedly shown how sadness, disquiet and an excessively pensive mood can be an insidious danger to the life of Bunker 101. More than once, Citizen Jefferson has worked to safeguard the psychological wellbeing of other Citizens by swiftly reporting worrying cases. An example would be Therapeutic Supervisor Truman, whose negative shift in mood was promptly and efficiently diagnosed by Jefferson themselves. Another is Citizen Byron, now under watch because of their occasionally morbid intellectual and spiritual inclinations as well as Citizen Darwin with their nervous breakdown.

Associated behavior: The Citizen keeps a vigilant eye on the behaviors they deem insidious: solitude, sadness and melancholy can be dangerous afflictions inside Bunker 101, so they must be diagnosed and treated with efficiency.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Manic

Report: The Citizen is obsessed by the possibility that someone may let discontent overwhelm them, or worse, push them to hurt themselves. Positivity and constant exuberance at all costs are of vital importance to Jefferson, as has clearly emerged on more than one occasion. Jefferson was recently involved in a verbal altercation with Citizen DiMaggio because of the former's insistence on asking the latter why they felt so sad, to the point of causing anger.

Associated behavior: The Citizen cannot stand those who manifest an excessively melancholic or pensive disposition and lashes out against those behaviors with exaggerated vehemence.

JOYCE

ARCHETYPE: The brilliant, invisible sidekick

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Archival

Club: Decency

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you confess your deep, honest affection to your unseparable friend Kerouac? Will you always stay by their side? Will you form a closer friendship with Nabokov? Will you learn to speak in a firmer voice to show everyone the universe hidden under your skin? Are you willing to do anything to gain public esteem and approval?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Visionary

Report: The Citizen has an extremely developed abstract mind, trained to reflect on great ethical and moral questions. The most refined studies and research of the Memory Department are often a result of a proposal timidly brought forth by Citizen Joyce, a meek but brilliant Duncanist, too intent on chasing the greatness of the past to lose themselves in the chatter of those who want to hoard all merits. Their profound sensibility has emerged splendidly during an interview released by Chronicler Operator Nabokov, with whom Citizen Joyce later established a cordial friendship.

Associated behavior: The Citizen prefers to speak to a few people at a time, or better yet eye-to-eye. When the conversation becomes private and intimate, they are able to manifest the complexity of their inner thoughts.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Timid

Report: The Citizen is incapable of manifesting their wishes and appears to most as a mere cohort of the more charismatic and self-referential Kerouac, an inseparable friend and colleague to Citizen Joyce. The latter feels a strong bond of friendship towards Citizen Kerouac, and although they are unsure of whether this bond is mutual, they dare not inquire on the matter. They seem content with following in Kerouac's footsteps without voicing their own brilliant ideas.

Associated behavior: The company of Kerouac is a terrible influence on Citizen Joyce: in the other's presence they find it impossible to express their own ideas, in fear of contradicting their friends. In general, Joyce has difficulties in expressing themselves before large groups of people discussing animatedly.

KAHN

ARCHETYPE: The enlightened leader

Block: Quadrofour
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Tutor to Chaplin
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Therapeutic
Club: Tailor
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you persuade Chaplin that their behavior is wrongful and dangerous to the entire community? Will you detect more antisocial subjects and report them to Educational Operators? Will you volunteer to follow them as a Tutor? Will you lash out against those who worship unworthy, antisocial old cults? Will you expose Nabokov's treachery?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Inspiring

Report: The Citizen is a positive and proactive guide for the Duncanist community, and the center of many virtuous and constructive social relationships with the people of Bunker 101. Their voluntary efforts to Tutor multiple cases of antisocial behavior over the years has been a great relief to the community. Their current pupil is Citizen Chaplin, who is following a reeducation path because of their attempts at seduction of many honest, already-married Citizens of the bunker. In the same way Citizen Garrincha has found a place for themselves at Kahn's side.

Associated behavior: The Citizen seeks to approach so-called lost lambs and guide them towards worship of the Founder, and never misses a chance to inspire the Citizens of Bunker 101 with their magnanimous words.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Fanatic

Report: The Citizen legitimately believes that no religions other than Duncanism should have a place in Bunker 101. However, they seem to lash out with excessive fervor at Citizens who manifest antisocial behavior tied to wrongful spiritual practices, such as Citizen Nabokov. This deep worry for the spiritual integrity of Bunker 101, although appreciated, is in danger of lapsing into overreach, as Citizen Kahn often inappropriately steps into the territory of Educational Operators.

Associated behavior: The Citizen watches out for illegitimate and unwarranted forms of worship, and frequently polemicizes on the dangers of deviant faith, contrary to the will of Founder Duncan.

KEATON

ARCHETYPE: The rebel in love

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Red
Permits: -
Ties: Tutored by Garibaldi.
Department: Ecosystem
Level: Operator
Classification: Biological
Club: Decency
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you choose to be yourself or will you try to appease the system with a Union of convenience? Will you be able to stand Fibonacci's bullying for much longer? Will you find the right moment to open your heart to Tracy and tell her your secret? Will you hold back the rage and frustration you feel towards those that would change you? Will you follow the teaching of your Tutor Richelieu? Will you withstand their presence?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Patient

Report: The Citizen has a meek, indulgent nature. In spite of other Citizens' frequent harrassment, Keaton stays placid and would rather wait for the situation to deescalate than react to their persecutors' provocations and ridicule. The calm with which they react to Citizen Fibonacci's frequent prevarications is especially appreciated. Not long ago, this mildness was repaid by fiery Citizen Tracy, who stepped in to defend Keaton from said harrassment.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has a mild disposition and avoids open conflict. They would rather withstand insults and criticisms than react.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Sexually deviant

Report: The Citizen has never shown any interest in the perspective of requesting a Union Permit to another Citizen of Bunker 101. Recently, However, Therapeutic Operators noticed the unusual behavior exhibited by Citizen Keaton towards people of their same sex. Although repeatedly summoned by Educational Operators, Keaton has never spoken a single word about their sexual inclinations and liaisons. When finally questioned by Educational Operator Richelieu, the Citizen first reacted with anger, by striking the table with their fist. Then they immediately calmed down and coldly answered: "What you're all really afraid of is being homosexual yourselves". Following this incident, Citizen Keaton was demoted to Red on the Schneider Scale. Their Tutor, Citizen Richelieu, is trying to persuade them that if they were to find a partner of the other sex to Unite with, their position on the Scale would certainly be reconsidered.

Associated behavior: The Citizen tries to hide their interest and desire for companionship with people of the same sex, but this inclination occasionally shows through their behavior. For this reason, they have been suggested to seek a partner of the other sex and Unite in marriage.

KEROUAC

ARCHETYPE: The combiner of poetic fragments

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffragio

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Archival

Club: Decency

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Are you willing to do anything to leave a mark in the history of what humanity survived the nuclear disaster? Will you get close to Secretary of Welfare Sherman to show her your unconditional support? Will you find an audience worthy of listening to your pieces? Will you find this mysterious "rival" of yours, the best poet in Bunker 101? Will you hold back your fury towards your detractors?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Creative

Report: The Citizen is passionate about deepening the bunker's knowledge about literary production before the global thermonuclear conflict. They have an innate gift for poetry, for its sounds and meanings, and in more than one occasion have shown their skill in reconstructing ancient poems from disparate, incoherent fragments. During Decency Club meetings and Dance parties, they have been repeatedly been asked to publicly read their poetic reconstructions. Their activities earned the praise and sincere approval of Citizen Sherman, the current Secretary of Welfare, who once commented: "We must thank Citizen Kerouac for showing us that true wellness can only be found by chasing the roots of our fathers."

Associated behavior: The Citizen is constantly looking for a chance to present their works to the people of the bunker, to enlighten them to the almost-entirely-lost beauty of the poetic word.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Narcissistic

Report: The Citizen has an extremely high opinion of themselves and their own poetic works, and their only interest when pursuing personal relationship seems to be their own feelings. They seek the company of people like their inseparable friend and colleague Joyce, who seems to adore them, and grow agitated if not outright furious when faced with those that criticize their art. During a public reading, they showered Citizen Kafka with scathing insults after the latter told them- to quote- to "get off that high horse, since you're not even the best poet of Bunker 101".

Associated behavior: The Citizen surrounds themselves with praise, always tries to remain in the limelight and seems hypersensitive to any insult, real or imagined.

LACOSTE

ARCHETYPE: The tragic heroine of Bunker 101

Block: Unaone

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Puskas. Unused Birth Permit.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Explorer

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you risk your own life for the good of others? Will you be among the first to set foot outside Bunker 101? Will you chase after your lost love? Will you finally decide to act respectable and give Bunker 101 a new child? Will you manage to hide your spite from Puskas? Will you get rid of foolish Citizen Goya and their nagging?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Intrepid

Report: The Citizen is a beacon of courage, and each day she bravely faces not only hard training, but the most delicate of simulations to calibrate the effectiveness of anti-radiation suits and Daisy+ pills. One significant episode is worthy of particular note: during a fire in the Ginger laboratory, Citizen Lacoste willingly braved the flames to save both Biological Operator Hepburn and the Ginger specimen, putting her own life in danger. Lacoste has been lauded by many as a Heroine and awarded a Birth Permit by the Council of Synergy.

Associated behavior: If necessary, the Citizen will always be willing to volunteer for dangerous missions, and to save lives during emergencies.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Stubborn

Report: The Citizen was united in wedlock to Citizen Puskas, from her own Block, with the approval of their respective and now defunct parents, as well as the praise of the Dancing Club. Citizen Goya, in particular, has worked long and hard for the couple's happiness. However, while still maintaining a respectable front as expected from the Heroine of the Bunker, Citizen Lacoste is determined to wallow in the thought of the illegitimate, unproductive love that bound her to a Citizen from another Block. Although the Union with Citizen Puskas has already been ratified, Lacoste keeps stubbornly repeating that her partner is not to her liking and that she will remain faithful to her lost love. She refuses to name this mysterious third party. Furthermore, Citizen Puskas reports that Lacoste keeps finding excuses not to undertake the path to the conception of a new life, in spite of the Birth Permit issued to her by the Council.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is cold towards her partner, categorically refusing to conceive a child as would be expected after receiving a Birth Permit. She generally acts independent and emotionally distant.

LAUTREC JR

ARCHETYPE: The brilliant little orphan

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Female
Age: Junior
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits:
Ties: Sibling of Garbo Department:
Level:
Classification:
Club:
Political stance:
Religious stance:

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you always keep your positivity towards the future of the Bunker and your own? Why aren't you able to accept the pain you hide behind your energy and brilliant mind? Will you realise how much they took away from you and your sibling Garbo by executing your parent Lautrec? How close do you want to stay to Citizen Keaton and what does she mean to you? Will you keep enjoying this little game of observing people and reporting back to the Educational Operators?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Fine observer

Report: TThe Junior Citizen is an extremely fine observer. Every behaviour, word, glance means something for her. She is extremely attentive and have a brilliant mind. Notwithstanding her young age, the Educational Operators are particularly satisfied by her performance at cognitive as well as social level. She has a troubled past, since she is the young daughter of the departed Citizen Lautrec, enemy of the Bunker who has been sentenced to death and accompanied out of the Bunker by Citizen Ewry, Intelligence Supervisor. Similarly to her brother, Citizen Garbo, she seems to have learned what is the best for the Bunker: she is very active and often spends time with the Educational Operators, looking at their routine and sometimes even willingly helping them out to monitor the correct behaviours of the other citizens of the Bunker.

Associated behavior: Junior Lautrec is everywhere and knows a lot more than expected from such a young Citizen. She often accepts for amusement to watch over other Citizens and to report back to the Educational Operators.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Naive

Report: Notwithstanding the troubled past of the Junior Citizen Lautrec, we do not recognise the signs of disenchantment we would expect to see in an orphaned child. The Junior Citizen is extremely optimistic and seems to be unaware of the complexities of adulthood as well as of the risks involved with the life in the Bunker. She might have removed the emotional pain caused by the loss of the parent Lautrec or otherwise built an emotional barrier for self-protection. In any case, we look with impatience to her friendship with the childish Citizen Swahn, the daughter of Citizen Zatopek. We believe that Junior Citizen Lautrec is way more mature and capable than the troubled Citizen Swahn. However we do also notice with a certain interest the closeness between Junior Lautrec and Citizen Keaton. We have been scrutinizing very closely their relationship and noticed that Junior Lautrec sees the other citizen as a sort of mentor or a maternal figure. We will monitor attentively their closeness in order to be sure that Citizen Keaton, being an antisocial, does not have detrimental influence over the younger mind.

Associated behavior: Junior Lautrec seems to be always very kind and optimistic. She searches for the company of the people she trusts, especially the brother Garbo, the friend Swahn and the mentor Keaton

LINCOLN

ARCHETYPE: The indulgent teacher consumed by resentment

Block: Pentafive
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation
Ties: Spooner's Tutor.
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Educational
Club: Decency
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

So many antisocials are beyond redemption and keep hurting the honest Citizens of Bunker 101, will you do all in your power to punish them? Will you watch over Spooner so that their mistake does not drag them towards self-destruction? Will you be faithful to the memory of your lost love or will you turn over a new leaf? Will you make the Committee see that Disney is an egocentric, dangerous antisocial?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Magnanimous

Report: The Citizen has shown a great capacity for comprehension, goodwill and indulgence. Citizen Lincoln was struck by tragedy when their young consort, Citizen Weissmuller, died in an accident during a Security Department Exploration training session. The blame was placed on a then-unexperienced team mate, Citizen Spooner. In spite of their grief over the premature and tragic loss, Lincoln was not only able to forgive Spooner for their mistake, but also to follow them in their rehabilitation both as an Educational Operator and as a Tutor. At the end of the reeducation period, the two Citizens had become good friends.

Associated behavior: The Citizen listens attentively to the motivations of Citizens who make mistakes in good faith. When it comes to handling antisocial cases, they always try to work with those who show remorse and contrition.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Rancorous

Report: In spite of their indulgent disposition and their clemency towards Citizen Spooner, as well as many other antisocial cases, Citizen Lincoln has more than once shown resentment towards "that damned clown, Disney". This is apparently because Citizen Disney derided Citizen Lincoln's work methods in front of the entire population of Bunker 101, as well as their care and determination in treating the most difficult cases of antisocial behavior. Lincoln generally despises anyone who does not follow the rehabilitation program and persists in their antisocial ways.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has been reported speaking harsh words about those who persevere in antisocial behavior, advocating for the possibility of recurring to Exile more often. They also verify through personal investigations that the work of their fellow Educators is done well, often incurring in the wrath of said colleagues.

LOIK

ARCHETYPE: The dashing jock

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Child to Earhart
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Intelligence
Club: Sport
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you want to discover what it is about you that your father loathes so much? Who could you marry to finally transfer to Block Unaone, to be with your friends and colleagues? Are you proud to be a Security Operator? Does your loyalty go first to the Secretary of Security and only second to the Council of Synergy?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Loyal

Report: The Citizen shouldered the blame for a two-hour loss of contact with a prove and received a negative evaluation because of it. The true guilty party later turned out to be Citizen Fangio, but Loik refused all forms of apology or compensation. "Intelligence Operators are a team. When one of us stumbles, we all do. This is how it should be."

Associated behavior: The Citizen spends a lot of time with their colleagues, showing great team spirit, and is happy with a gregarious role. To them, their Unit is their family, and they will do all they can to keep it tight and functional.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Aggressive

Report: The Citizen has found a great stress release valve in Bounce!, and even gained victory in last year's championship with Team Bissotwo. They were however reprimanded for a lack of sportsmanship, which degenerated in heated arguments and injuries to their adversaries. Loik has always accepted disciplinary measures without complaining, but when they enter "the zone" they always seem dangerously close to losing control.

Associated behavior: The Citizen's self-image is far too tied to that of the athlete, bringing them to be competitive even when it is completely unnecessary. They often make sure that their team mates, Citizens Garrincha and Carnera, keep in good shape. They often engage in goliardic, chaotic behavior.

MAJORANA

ARCHETYPE: The broken heart

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties: Son to Sherman and Olsen.

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Logistical

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you fight to win over Nagurski's heart? Do you feel your faith in the Founder is wavering? Are your parents too superficial to really understand you? Is the electronic brain Marilyn more human than many Citizens of Bunker 101? Why does Supervisor Ewry seem to hate you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Spontaneous

Report: The Citizen is animated by a fresh, engaging spirit. When he stares into Marilyn's screens he seems to look into the heart of a real person, and even when faced with the most repetitive tasks he seems to always infuse a spark of love for his work into every gesture. A model son to his parents Olsen and Sherman, he is looking for his place in the great family of Bunker 101 after a scathing rejection by Nagurski, daughter of the Secretary of Security.

Associated behavior: The Citizen positively relates with most of his Unit thanks to an innate ability to face the daily routine with grit and creativity.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Troubled

Report: The Citizen has reacted badly to Nagurski's rejection of his engagement proposal. Overwhelmed by rage he interrupted a Duncanist Celebration, rambling against the Mending of the Cut, because his heart "cannot be mended with needle and thread". The only thing that seems to placate him is unrestrained, furious dancing. This kind of inappropriate behavior has garnered him special attention on the part of Supervisor Ewry, who seems to be particularly stern towards both the Citizen and his father, Olsen.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is progressively drifting from worship of the Founder, as they struggle to forget the romantic rejection by diving headfirst into the haze of the Dancing Club.

MARCIANO

ARCHETYPE: The paranoid with a good reason

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: -

Ties: Tutored by Faraday.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you ever leave your trauma behind you? Are you worried to lose all the old friends that are about to undertake the Great Journey? Will you be able to make everyone else understand that what you see is real? Will you let Faraday help you spread the truth?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Vigilant

Report: In spite of their previous Assignment to Exploration, the Citizen has shown great affinity for radar monitoring: they do not seem to regret their Reassignment and have integrated well within the new team, all the while showing a keen interest in keeping up with the work of their former Exploration colleagues. In the latest calibration session, Marciano has reiterated their desire to protect the bunker "from whatever's still lurking out there", in coherence with their previous engagement to Extra-bunker exploration. They have repeatedly mediated between the various Units of the Security Department, settling disputes caused by divergences in investigation methods, because their experience and dedication allow them to understand the need for both approaches.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is zealous in the fulfilment of their tasks, almost to the point of obsession. They insist with their colleagues in Exploration to know the results of their simulations, in trying to keep an updated and comprehensive report on everything that concerns the outer areas of Bunker 101.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Delusional

Report: The Citizen has shown worrying symptoms ever since their return from the last experimental mission performed by Unit Pitcher several years ago. The only survivor because of their squadmates' faulty anti-radiation suits, Marciano failed to report on the mission and immediately requested a Reassignment exam to become an Intelligence Operator, refusing to resume their duties in Exploration. Ever since then they have been diligently monitoring the radars, but they often experience hallucinations they attribute to the "things that lurk in Area 1K". Two years ago they were forcefully removed from a public showing of the five-episode radio drama "The Adventures of the Cavernauts" after trying to physically attack Citizen Picasso, the author of the piece. In the ensuing chaos, Citizen Marciano accused Picasso of being "one of them". It seems the aggression started during a scene in which the titular Cavernauts came in contact with a pack of subhuman reatures. After the incident, Scientific Operator Faraday volunteered to become their Tutor, being the only Citizen willing to listen to Marciano's ravings.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often claims to see shadows moving about the tunnels and hear steps coming from inside the bunker's armored walls. They refuse to speak of the incident that caused their Reassignment, with Faraday as their only trusted confidant. They react with panic at any mention of living creatures outside the bunker.

MATISSE

ARCHETYPE: The chatty comrade

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: -

Ties: Tutored by Puskas.

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Archivist

Club: Mastiff

Political stance: Mastiff

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you put your silver tongue in the service of Mastiff Club? Will you persuade Richelieu to embrace the communist doctrine? Will you find the courage to approach Supervisor Byron to declare your esteem and affection? Will you do all you can to discover who reported you? Will you manage to find some time for yourself, not just for "the tasks of the Proletariat in the Present Revolution"?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Persuasive

Report: Citizen Matisse is a smooth talker and is able to present worthy, convincing arguments to any discussion. More than once they have demonstrated how the power of words and reason surpass violence and insults. They have recently surprised their colleagues in the Memory Department: During the inauguration of a new exhibit in the Memory Museum, they noticed that the health of already fragile Archival Supervisor Byron was drastically worsening. Citizen Byron was pale, feverish and on the verge of collapse. As usual, however, Supervisor Byron had no intention of leaving a job unfinished. It was Citizen Matisse, with their oratory skills, that convinced them to rest with the following enigmatic words: "And what if tomorrow, Supervisor Byron, the mysteries of the Universe were revealed to you, and you were to miss it because you had passed out from exhaustion?"

Associated behavior: The Citizen loves to chat and persuade others of the validity and soundness of their ideas.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Riotous

Report: The Citizen was recently caught by an anonymous witness transcribing multiple copies of fragments of an ancient text called "State and Revolution", penned by one Lenin. Promptly reported and summoned in front of the Committee, Citizen Matisse showed wide-eyed surprise towards the accusation; they explained to Educational Operator Richelieu that they did not understand what was so wrong about spreading this political doctrine among the Citizens of Bunker 101. "It is a noble thought, gentlemen - they boldly argued - democracy is not identical with the subordination of the minority to the majority. Democracy is a state which recognizes the subordination of the minority to the majority, an organization for the systematic use of force by one class against another, by one section of the population against another". When asked why they were transcribing so many copies of those ancient pages, Matisse admitted to planning to secretly distribute them to the most moderate Citizens in order to inspire them to vote Mastiff. Following the accusations of spreading treasonous messages, the Committee placed them under a Tutor.

Associated behavior: The Citizen keeps a low profile during public conversations, but in private they still advocate for the effectiveness of the communist model.

MONROE

ARCHETYPE: The tight-strung wire

Block: Unaone
Gender: Male
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage, Union
Ties: Union with Holiday
Department: Ecosystem
Level: Supervisor
Classification: Biological
Club: Tailor
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you believe a good Citizen, a hard worker, a principled Elephant and a faithful Duncanist such as you doesn't deserve to see his wife die an early death? Do you think it was her work that killed her? Are you willing to do anything for her?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Patient

Report: The Citizen is a paragon of patience: he can achieve great results by walking one step at a time. There is no record in the Archives of a Unaone Citizen obtaining a Union Permit with a Pentafive, and yet Citizen Monroe has devoted years to seeing the laws of Bunker 101 fulfil his dreams of love. On the job, he is greatly esteemed for his ability to keep everything under control.

Associated behavior: The Citizen faces setbacks without losing hope. He always counts to three before answering. He wants to be a pillar to his fellow Citizens.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Distraught

Report: The Citizen cannot cope with the imminent death of his wife, Citizen Holiday, who is terminally ill because of radiation poisoning. Besides numerous heated arguments with Therapeutic Operators, he has been reported for harassing Council of Synergy members with senseless requests, like an Assignment switch between himself and his wife, to spare her from her work in radioactive waste disposal. These attempts have been going on for months, in spite of the reputation built by the Citizen in years of impeccable conduct. He was also the protagonist of a recent altercation with Scientific Operator Newton, who had been insisting to obtain a blood sample from Citizen Holiday for personal research; the argument did not lead to a physical aggression, but was bitter enough to warrant a supplementary calibration session.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is obsessed with the unrealistic goal of saving his wife. Nothing else seems to be of any importance to him. He is unexpectedly aggressive on the matter.

NABOKOV

ARCHETYPE: The lovable heretic

Block: Quadrofour
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Yellow
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Memory
Level: Operator
Classification: Chronicler
Club: Dancing
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

How long can you keep living a lie by hiding your true faith? Will you do anything to make Joyce see they really can trust you? Will you give a voice to those who so easily go unlistened instead of only dealing with that stupid sport? Will you confront Bartali about the reason why they reported you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Friendly

Report: The Citizen faces their duties as a Chronicler Operator with team spirit and respect for the work of their peers. Even though they admittedly aspire to something more than Sport Chronicle, the Citizen has always given voice to the Bounce! team members as well as to their supporters through interviews and articles, being especially devoted to giving word to the most humble and reserved. For this reason they sometimes went off topic but the Supervisor Proust never complained about it. Citizen Nabokov feel their work as a Chronicler should be a sounding board, to give everyone a chance to be heard. On a personal level, their kind, receptive company has been noted to encourage the most introverted to open up and participate more actively to the life of Bunker 101. A notable example would be their recent friendship to Archival Operator Joyce. Thanks to Citizen Nabokov's interview and their camaraderie, Joyce's self-esteem seems to be slowly improving.

Associated behavior: The Citizen encourages the most silent and reserved to speak their mind, especially through interviews and private, intimate conversations.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Deviant spirituality

Report: Some witnesses have reported seeing Citizen Nabokov taking time out of both work and leisure to stand alone and mutter what sounded like a chant of some sort. It was Citizen Bartali who first noticed the odd behavior, especially notable since Nabokov is a known rationalist. Believing the latter to have suddenly turned to Duncanism, Citizen Bartali approached them, only to notice that Nabokov was in prayer to an unidentified monotheistic deity, perhaps of Christian or Islamic derivation. When questioned on the matter, Citizen Nabokov answered evasively. Although there is no further evidence of their deviance, the Citizen is now under surveillance by the Educational Operators.

Associated behavior: The Citizen sometimes takes time to pray to their god, but has up to this point avoided reacting to the prodding of Duncanists and Educational Operators.

NAGURSKI

ARCHETYPE: The proud tomboy

Block: Unaone

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties: Daughter to Curie and Zatopek. Swahn's sister.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Exploration

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you prove yourself worthy of the Great Journey and your father's esteem? Will you make him proud? Will you manage to be more like your mother? Will you protect your family and especially your sister, no matter the cost? Will you learn from Swahn to be less nervous around men?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Dutiful

Report: The Citizen has an innate respect for rules and toils to make sure they are constantly observed by everyone. Whether it is her unpredictable sister Swahn or other Exploration Operators' bravado, she never hesitates to call others back to their responsibilities. A hard worker, she is motivated by the quest for her father's approval and made confident by her mother's support. Up to this day she has never showed any interest in a romantic relationship, and on the contrary she seems somewhat irritated by the host of suitors that constantly surround her sister. She has repeatedly stepped in to compensate for Swahn's naiveté in response to the inappropriate advances made by Citizen Gable.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is very demanding, of herself and others. She is close to her family and proud of her role within the bunker. She has taken on the task of moderating the bizarre behavior of her sister Swahn.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Ingenue

Report: The Citizen is surprisingly vulnerable for the most disparate reasons. She is sure of being underappreciated and thus constantly seeks others' approval, a fact that has occasionally made her the subject of teasing. She has an inferiority complex towards her sister, whom she sees as more graceful and feminine, and at the same time she can hardly stand her quirks. She does not want her father's role as Secretary of Security be considered a cause for favoritism. She has harshly rejected Citizen Majorana's Union proposal, in spite of the latter being a perfectly viable candidate for marriage.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has a weak spot for flattery and she has a hard time recognizing it as such. She prefers the company of males to other females, as long as the interaction is not romantic. Any attempt at flirting makes her uneasy.

NELSON

ARCHETYPE: The self-righteous pacifist

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Educational
Club: Decency
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you show your extreme opposition to the militarization of Bunker 101? Do you think it's Educational Operators that are the real pillar of this community? Will you stand against the far-too-frequent cases of favoritism for Block Unaone and the Security Department? Will you tell Secretary of Security Zatopek you lowered the Schneider Scale rank of his antisocial daughter Swahn to Red?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unbiased

Report: The Citizen is remarkable for the fairness with which they perform their duties, with no favoritism towards any Block or Department. In more than one occasion, their judgment of antisocial behavior as Educational Operator was spoken against respectable members of Block Unaone or esteemed professionals of the more illustrious Departments. As an example, Citizen Nelson has recently revised the Schneider Scale ranking of Citizen Swahn, son of Secretary of Security Zatopek. Citizen Swahn has in fact been judged severely antisocial because of her childish, unbalanced behavior, a sign of intellectual underdevelopment.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has low tolerance for open bias or favoritism on the basis of Blocks and Departments. They always behave impartially towards every Citizen.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Insufferable

Report: The Citizen is intolerant of the chain of command, especially when it comes to taking orders from the Security Department. They believe it should fall on common sense and consciousness of one's responsibility to guide the Citizens, not on the commands "barked by a bunch of rogue zealots". A symptomatic episode should be mentioned: during a Bunker-wide emergency procedure simulation, Citizen Nelson reacted with offensive words towards Intelligence Operator Fangio, who was supervising the operation. In detail, they instructed them to "dip their ass in cold water and calm the fuck down".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is openly annoyed by any mandate of Security Department Operators. They also publicly advocate against any possible "militarization" of the administration of Bunker 101.

NEWTON

ARCHETYPE: The young upstart

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Coppi (2 sons, Coppi Jr, Newton Jr.)

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Scientific

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you prove that Eisenhower is poisoning oblivious Citizens? Will you show everyone how brilliant your reasoning is, in the lab and on the dance floor? Will you finally get Holiday to listen to you? Will you prove that even a Pentafive can have what it takes to be the next Scientific Supervisor?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Inquisitive

Report: The Citizen's recent assignment to the Progress Department has brought forth an unprecedented productive momentum. Newton's passion for investigation, formerly translated in a methodical approach to the counseling activities of the Dancing Club, immediately revolutionized Citizen Darwin's studies on the side effects of the Daisy+ pill: in fact, Citizen Newton has begun a systematic analysis of the reports filed by the Security Department on Extra-bunker exploration simulations, detecting multiple occurrences of spasms, convulsions and headaches in Explorers who tested out the pills. Their testimony was key in the Welfare Department Committee's judgement on the case of Therapeutic Operator Eisenhower, found guilty of administering unauthorized doses of Daisy+ to Citizen Grezar in order to compensate their reduced dosing regimen due to old age.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is methodical in their studies and loves gathering data, both on scientific research and their associates. They insist to listen to the reports and receive the biological samples of Exploration Operators. They resent Citizen Eisenhower for their reckless trafficking of a dangerous substance.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Stubborn

Report: The Citizen does not seem to have accepted the Welfare Department Committee's judgement of Citizen Eisenhower: although the latter was assigned to a Tutor after the Grezar incident, they were found innocent of trafficking Daisy+ to other unidentified Citizens because of a lack of evidence- Seeing their testimony ignored, Citizen Newton fixated on the search for additional proof that may overturn the Committee's ruling. They have been forcefully separated from Citizen Holiday, who was under Eisenhower's care for her radiation poisoning: Newton insisted to get a sample of her blood, asserting that her swift decline in health was not due to the radiation, but to an overdose of Daisy+. Citizen Monroe, husband to the harrassed Ecological Operator, scared Newton off and ordered them to leave his wife alone, although the argument fortunately did not escalate to physical violence.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is still looking for evidence of Eisenhower's guilt, and uses their free time to hound them, their Tutor Carnera, their patient Holiday, and the Educational Operator that chaired their Committee and judged them innocent, Patton. They are obsessed with proving their theories right, and they generally seem to associate success and prestige to their own worth as a person.

NEWTON JUNIOR

ARCHETYPE: The distracted ingenious builder

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Male

Age: Junior

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits:

Ties: Son of Coppi and Newton, sibling of Junior

Coppi

Department:

Level:

Classification:

Club:

Political stance:

Religious stance:

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Which is your favourite job, the scientific one that your father does or mum's strange work? Would you like to become an Exploration Operator, an hero of the Bunker 101? Or your dreams are bigger, such as becoming a pirate, a knight or a wizard as the stories you once read in those strange books of the Archives? Will you be able to be focused as they told you or will you search for amazing adventures? Is there anyone among the grown-ups who is not too serious and boring and can become your friend?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Resourceful

Report: The Junior Citizen is incredibly inventive and full of imagination. He combines a keen interest for mechanics and technology with a lively mind. We are extremely proud of his educational achievements and believe a bright future expects the Junior Citizen. Junior Newton loves to spend time with his father, the Scientific Operator Newton: the young Citizen often looks at the father while he is working and is therefore always welcomed by Newton's colleagues. He is an extremely ingenious youth, in search of knowledge and eager for adventure. Sometimes he also visits the mother, Citizen Coppi, and assists the Intelligence Operators in their daily duties. A couple of weeks ago he has been given a "task" by Educational Operators to test his preparation: the Junior Citizen was not only able to perform it correctly, but even developed a technical improvement in the device he was supposed to repair. We could not be more proud of such a bright young Citizen!

Associated behavior: Junior Newton loves to spend time with his parents while they are at work but also likes to watch the other Citizens at work, trying to learn and helping them. He is particularly interested in mechanics.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Distracted

Report: Notwithstanding his brilliant results, the Junior Citizen gets easily distracted. It's a shame that such a brilliant young mind has a tendency to be caught in daydreaming. We believe that it is not only due to his young age but also because of a natural predisposition toward reverie. One of the Educational Operators recently complained of the fact that Junior Newton did not pay attention to the lessons and had "the head in the clouds". When asked what he was thinking, the young Citizen confessed that he was dreaming of "immense forests, distant planets and brave heroes". We believe that such an inclination should not be encouraged: the Junior Citizen should either focus on a concrete heroism and follow the path of our Exploration Operators, or forget these impossible dreams.

Associated behavior: Junior Newton is easily distracted by daydreams. He often tells to the grown-up Citizens of incredible journeys and heroic deeds he has been dreaming of. He also asks to the Archives if they can provide him with adventure books or tell him amazing stories from the past.

OLIVIER

ARCHETYPE: The lover of the good life

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you believe that Bunker 101 is important, and your personal satisfaction even more so? Will you keep reporting to Educational Supervisor Richelieu, even if it means getting someone in trouble? Will you do all you can to support the candidacy for President of someone able to grant you "protection"? In any case, do you intend to cash in the debt of gratitude you feel Richelieu owes you? Will you help someone learn how to enjoy life?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Loquacious

Report: The Citizen loves to chat, during work hours, in the mess hall and within the Dancing Club. They care about the lives of other Citizens, and remember their needs and anecdotes with earnest interest. They always have a smile and a kind word for everyone. They have also proven willing to cooperate with Educational Supervisor Richelieu volunteering to give them an "insider's perspective" on the daily life of Bunker 101. They report whenever they can, mentioning what Citizens might need the attention and help of the Welfare Department.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is a good conversationalist and an even better listener. They make use of the Dancing Club to gather confessions and report them to Educational Operator Robespierre whenever they can.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Materialistic

Report: The Citizen is above all interested in seeing their primary needs met. They sleep long, eat as much as they can, and partner with the other sex for pure amusement: these are their priorities. They justify themselves with hard work and their humble origins, but it is easy to think that their will to please the authorities comes more from their own personal agenda than a true devotion to the community. Their spirit of sacrifice is questionable and they have never shied away from admitting that they long to improve their social standing, through an advantageous Union or a Reassignment mandated by "someone that counts".

Associated behavior: The Citizen always tries to get an extra serving. They take a long time to wake up and sometimes show up late for work. They want to be liked by everyone, especially the other sex. They make excuses and try to weasel out of thankless jobs.

OLSEN

ARCHETYPE: The good patriarch

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Sherman. Majorana's father.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Exploration Control

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do all you can to protect your two precious jewels, your wife and son? Will you find a way to live in peace and harmony with every living creature? Is the founder trying to tell you something through your dreams? Is the Daisy+ pill a chain holding you back from taking flight? Can the bunker become a peaceful Ark?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Seraphic

Report: The Citizen always has a smile on his lips and works day after day to be a model husband and father. A swift, efficient laborer, he never misses a chance to praise a colleague and to seek constructive dialogue. He initiated his son Majorana to the cult of the Founder, and is devastated by the shadow in the youth's heart. Olsen never loses his cool, except perhaps for the interrogation Citizen Ewry subjected him to.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is a living testimony to the importance of family and the cult of the Founder in the life of Bunker 101.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Mystical

Report: Many years ago, the Citizen stole hallucinogens from the research laboratory of the Progress Department. The intervention of his wife, Citizen Sherman, helped deflect accusations of chemical addiction. In spite of his newfound balance, over the years the Citizen has repeatedly reported of being visited in his dreams by a vision of the Founder, dressed as a warrior with sword and shield. Ever since the first dream, Olsen has requested to progressively diminish his daily dosage of Daisy pills. He often tells the story of Lautrec, father to Garbo and the Citizen most recently sentenced to Exile for sabotaging the research on Daisy+ pills.

Associated behavior: The Citizen never misses a chance to spread rumours about the dangers Daisy and Daisy+ pills pose to normal human brain functions.

OWENS

ARCHETYPE: The cold vindicator

Block: Unaone
Gender: Male
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Denied Union request to Tracy
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Intelligence
Club: Donkey
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you do everything in your power to bring the Donkey Club to victory? Will you show the Citizens of Bunker 101 that Marilyn is the most reasonable and efficient path to a future of peace and prosperity? Will you get revenge on Jacovacci for ruining your relationship with Tracy? Will you reveal the lust for vengeance you hide behind your self-control and destroy Jacovacci, Gable and everyone else who stands in the way of your dreams? Is it really over with Tracy?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Reasonable

Report: The Citizen was the subject of a scandal for his star-crossed relationship to passionate but impulsive Citizen Tracy, born to Block Pentafive. When the couple was denied their coveted Union Permit, Citizen Owens was able to control his reaction, and unlike Citizen Tracy accepted the ruling with calm sensibility. When he learned that the responsibility for pushing the Council of Synergy to deny the request fell on Citizen Jacovacci, Citizen Owen welcomed the news with remarkable, surprising tranquillity.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is extremely lucid and controlled in his reactions. They have never been seen angry, and are rarely bothered by anything. Their attitude sometimes feels even too tranquil and reasonable in proportion to what is actually transpiring.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Intransigent

Report: The Citizen is devoted to the cause of the Donkey Club and is neither flexible nor conciliating when it comes to the Club's serious political activity. He abhors loiterers and what he calls "mediocre subject" in an otherwise-excellent group of Bunker 101. Of particular note is their contempt towards Citizen Gable. This enmity has never lapsed into explicit resentment, only with repeated requests to expel Gable from the Club. Citizen Owens justifies his stubbornness by saying that Citizen Gable, to him, is literally "a shallow clown".

Associated behavior: The Citizen is strict and inflexible when it comes to the Donkey Club: he thinks that all its members should keep a high profile.

PATTON

ARCHETYPE: The pet Mastiff

Block: Unaone
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties: Coppi's sibling
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Educational
Club: Mastiff
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Your block makes you the right candidate to prove the Mastiff Club can handle real politics? Will you convince your fellow Mastiffs that their hotheaded stunts only give your party a bad name? Can you really say you know yourself, after all the time you've spent curating your image for other people? Is there someone in the whole bunker you'll let your mask down for? Have you finally made the wrong move by trying to help Eisenhower?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Moderate

Report: The Citizen speaks passionately about the good of the Bunker and their activism in Club Mastiff is a shining example of how political dialogue should be handled in a civil community. They have publicly condemned Citizen Bernhardt's aggressive behavior after their altercation with Citizen Richelieu during last year's Dance, stating that "public support for the Mastiff Club cannot be won by barking like dogs". Even in their role as an Educational Operator, they are careful not to let politics interfere with their duties, as shown during the judgement of Citizen Eisenhower, a colleague in their Department and a fellow Mastiff accused of illegally trafficking Daisy+ pills. Citizen Patton chaired the Commission without hesitation, producing a fair sentence in tune with what little testimonies and evidence could be collected.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always acts like the moderate face of the Mastiff Club, and toils to control the damage from their associates' missteps, or to distance themselves from them when there is nothing they can do.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Secretive

Report: The Citizen acts elusive in the face of private conversations about them, and seem to evade intimate friendship, much preferring to show their rhetorical skills in front of an audience. To this day they have never attended a Dance with a partner, and they have often been spotted wandering the halls alone during leisure time, when not busy with Club activities. In a single instance, they abandoned their post without the appropriate Leave Permit. Patton later apologized and blamed the absence on the stress of chairing Citizen Eisenhower's judgment Committee. Seeing their otherwise impeccable conduct, the anonymous accusations which saw them using this absence to dispose of evidence related to the case were disregarded, but they are still worthy of note.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is reluctant to speak of themselves and tries to avoid private conversations, acting uneasy when forced into face-to-face confrontations.

PICASSO

ARCHETYPE: The jaded propagandist

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Operator

Classification: Chronicler

Club: Donkey

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

You were the Voice of the Cavernauts, what's left of your fame now that you're just another Chronicler? Is the time for hopeful stories over inside this dark Bunker? Will you make Fitzgerald pay for destroying your masterpiece? Is there something you can still believe in?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Informer

Report: The Citizen's contribution to the formation of the young minds of Bunker 101 is of particular note. Ten years ago they worked with the Educational Operators of the Welfare Department to write and record the five-episode radio drama "The Adventures of the Cavernauts", whose protagonists undertook the Exploration of a network of natural tunnels deep beneath the Bunker. Since then the Citizen were permanently assigned to the Exploration Chronicle to document the extra-bunker exploration and was also awarded an Inebriation Permit by the Council of Synergy. During their acceptance speech, they said they wished to create a model of perfection for young Citizens and to push Bunker 101 to look beyond their walls and seek a future for humanity in the bowels of the earth. In recent times, however, Citizen Picasso seems to have become more elusive about their work, and rather than talk about their old glory, which they now call a "childish whimsy", they claim to devote all their attention to their job as a Chronicler Operator.

Associated behavior: The Citizen still shows a strong interest towards Extra-bunker exploration, and is firmly set on documenting the Great Journey through a comprehensive reportage.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Hoarder

Report: The Citizen reacted badly to the recent loss of the only existing tapes containing their radio masterpiece. Ever since the accident they have been obsessed with collecting and preserving all kinds of documentation, seemingly afraid of losing even more information. They thus concentrate on gathering and cataloguing any material that passes through their hands, however irrelevant it may be. They are also prone to bouts of rage when faced with the loss of documents they deemed worthy of preservation. For instance, during the most recent routine calibration session with the Welfare Department, they accused Citizen Fitzgerald, the Operator responsible for the accidental recycling of the tapes, of being "a nitwit and a disgrace to the entire Memory Department". More than once, Picasso's Supervisor has been forced to intervene to placate their verbal aggressions.

Associated behavior: The Citizen shows an almost-obsessive attachment to all kinds of documents. They try to preserve any trace of the existence of the Bunker and its population, even things that seem ostensibly useless. They are also needlessly aggressive towards Citizen Fitzgerald.

PIOLA

ARCHETYPE: The current Outgoing President

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Sport

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Were you happier when your only worry was playing Bounce!? Will you do all you can to avoid Elephants losing the elections, and you losing your seat as Outgoing President? Will you somehow advantage the Pentafive team in Bounce!, as they haven't won a championship since your time as a player? Will you find a way to build a future for yourself outside of representation and politics?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Charismatic

Report: The Citizen was the incarnation of the dream cultivated by all Pentafives: being destined to the Security Department in spite of humble origins, excelling as a Bounce! champion and riding the wave of fame to be elected as President, convincing even the most conservative Elephants to stand behind him. The Citizen knows he represents the true meritocracy of Bunker 101, and rightfully behaves as a symbol: he always has a word of encouragement for everyone, appears on the Tunnel as often as he can, and aims to be an inspiration for the entire community.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always positive and encouraging. He considers every Citizen to be important, from first to last. He often tells tales of his days as a Bounce! player.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Affected

Report: The Citizen no longer seems capable of distinguishing himself from his public persona, so much so that one has to wonder how he will fare at the end of his mandate as Outgoing President. He has never had any personal aspirations, such as starting a family, with the exception of Bounce!, where he seems to be coping badly with his role as a referee, as he misses the times where he played in the court. He is sure that, during the last elections, the Elephant Club chose President Grant as a candidate over him because they see him as incompetent, only good to be a public face, but too uneducated to face difficult decisions. Being loved by the people is all that is left for him, and cultivating this love seems to be his utmost priority.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often speaks in slogans. He is certain that the Elephant Club underestimates him. He cares deeply about looking good in public. He is obsessed with Bounce! and the wish to play it.

PONTECORVO

ARCHETYPE: The keen eye of the Bunker

Block: Terrathree
Gender: Male
Age: 40+
Schneider Scale: Red
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Progress
Level: Operator
Classification: Logistic
Club: Elephant
Political stance: Elephant
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you believe that Bunker 101 is a prodigy, but it could be so much more? Will you do all you can to make Elephants heard in the most important matters? Will you keep the Duncanists' honeyed words from blinding you to the truth? Are you ready to take risks for the survival of the community?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Enterprising

Report: The Citizen shows remarkable initiative, starting from the workplace, where he always offers precious assistance to his Supervisor. Repairing what does not work is a way of life to him, and it goes beyond attention on the job. He never fails to offer his opinion, voicing a sensible outlook that he links back to his wholesome Elephant upbringing. His membership to the Club is no surprise, although by his own admission he does not see himself in the role of President, but as an advisor capable of offering a frank, honest external evaluation.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is always ready to roll up his sleeves. He is cooperative and unafraid to speak his mind. His comments are pointed and precise.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Demanding

Report: The Citizen's critical sense often goes too far. No complete job seems to fully live up to his standards, and the same goes for many aspects of life in Bunker 101. Some of his coworker say he will never be Supervisor precisely because of this extreme pedantry, which has often incited arguments and undermined his popularity. In spite of the fact that their principles of self-improvement and work for the good of the Bunker would seem to be in line with his worldview, he feels a sort of enmity towards Duncanists, saying that "they're better with words than with facts". Indeed, his efforts to be proactive at all costs clash with some of the cult's stances.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always finds the weak link in the chain. He is full of nervous energy and has a hard time calming down. He tends to make sarcastic remarks about Duncanists

PROUST

ARCHETYPE: The idol of the bunker

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Memory

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Chronicler

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you make the Citizens of Bunker 101 worship you? Will you capture the most important moments of the life and history of Bunker 101? Will you tell Matisse you were the one who reported them? Will you confront Byron about your altercation? Will you find a partner that loves you for who you are, and not for your popularity?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Responsible

Report: The Citizen is well aware that fame comes with responsibility. For this reason, in spite of their popularity, Citizen Proust has not forgotten their duties as an honest worker of Bunker 101. They had previously reported the names of Citizens caught in inappropriate acts within the Memory Department, but what is worthy of particular commendation is the timely outing of Archival Operator Matisse's dangerous revolutionary intents. One evening, while bringing a set of records back to the archive, Proust caught them transcribing multiple copies of an incriminating text. The Citizen left before Matisse noticed them and promptly warned Welfare Department Operators of the issue.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is aware of their excesses, and for this reason they do their best to cooperate with the authorities in order to make Bunker 101 a peaceful place.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unrestrained

Report: They were recently at the center of an unfortunate episode that put them at odds with frail Archival Supervisor Byron. Following Citizen Proust's joking but insistent teasing, Citizen Byron accused them of being a spy and threatened them not to touch their Archival Operators, lest there be consequence. Citizen Proust left the scene only after violently striking their fist against a table, thus destroying some glasses.

Associated behavior: When not busy with their duties as a Chronicler Supervisor, the Citizen cannot contain themselves and recklessly look for pleasure and amusement.

PUSKAS

ARCHETYPE: The despotic husband

Block: Unaone

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Lacoste. Unused Birth Permit. Matisse's Tutor.

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Explorer

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Is there a limit to the satisfaction you feel after taking foolish Braddock's place? Will you climb the chain of command at any cost? Will you make it clear to everyone that "People need to stay in their place"? Will you obtain the respect and authority you deserve? Will you convince Lacoste to obey you and give you a son?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Ambitious

Report: The Citizen manifests a commendable attitude, a high level of focus and a healthy sense of competition, all thanks to a propulsive natural ambition. Born from parents that greatly contributed to the good of Bunker 101 and united in respectable marriage inside Block Unaone, Citizen Puskas has never stopped working hard and has devoted himself body and soul to personal improvement. The Citizen, originally Assigned to Exploration Unit Shortstop, earned enough distinction to take the place of Citizen Braddock in their Exploration Unit when the latter got injured during a particularly risky simulation.

Associated behavior: The Citizen aspires to all kinds of seats, commendations and awards and is ready to do anything in order to further his plans for success.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Authoritative

Report: The Citizen, although extremely efficient and reliable, tends to impose his will upon his colleagues, relatives and friends, sometimes even through the use of harsh, prepotent means. One emblematic example is the instance where Citizen Hepburn intervened in defense of Citizen Puskas's wife, Lacoste, and was abruptly silenced and humiliated. Citizen Puskas was complaining about his wife, reproaching "the so-beloved heroine of the bunker, who still acts like a spoiled child and won't mother the son she owes me". Since Citizen Lacoste was absent, Hepburn stepped in to defend her from the accusations. Citizen Puskas dismissed them thus: "Stay in your place, farmer".

Associated behavior: The Citizen imposes his will with stern firmness and always tries to affirm their authority, even through blunt action and a raised voice.

RICHELIEU

ARCHETYPE: The grim good-thinker

Block: Unaone

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Welfare

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Educational

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you keep up the mask of respectable righteousness you've spent so long to build? Will you hide your delusions of grandeur? Will you run for President to impose your vision of Bunker 101 on every Citizen? Will you stop the advance of riotous Mastiffs at any cost? Will you root out the most dangerous antisocials that populate the bunker also thanks to your spy Olivier? Will you find a worthy match and get married?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Incorruptible

Report: The Citizen shines for their moral life style and for the example they give to more riotous Citizens. As the austere Educational Supervisor of their Department, they are famous for the tranquil, tireless devotion with which they watch over the moral integrity and psychological health of the Citizens of Bunker 101. Furthermore, their dedication to education has helped root out antisocial subjects within the folds of the Mastiff Club, such as Archival Operator Matisse with their obsession towards torpid, seditious doctrines. Or Citizen Keaton, haunted by sexual perversion. Citizen Richelieu is always extremely well-informed about what is happening in the Bunker also thanks to the support of the trustful Citizen Olivier.

Associated behavior: The Citizen benevolently watches over the righteousness and modesty of the people of Bunker 101, gently reprimanding the behaviors that may be cause for needless tension and conflict or taking more serious measures.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Arrogant

Report: The Citizen is extremely proud. Being an undeniably excellent member of the community, Citizen Richelieu can hardly stand criticism and opposition. An appropriate example is that of a past dance, where Citizen Richelieu was approached by a member of Block Pentafive, Biological Operator Bernhardt, who was upset about being reported by Richelieu as a disturbance to public peace and at risk of being antisocial. Instead of responding with clarification on the matter, as an Educational worker should, Richelieu spilled the liquor they were holding on the floor and maliciously suggested that Citizen Bernhard do their job, take care of refreshments and fetch them another drink.

Associated behavior: The Citizen believes themselves above all criticism and tends to condescendingly underline their own innate superiority.

ROBESPIERRE

ARCHETYPE: The censor of terror

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Male
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Welfare
Level: Operator
Classification: Educational
Club: Donkey
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you bring Donkeys to victory and become President? Will you weasel out the most hidden cases of antisocial behavior? Will you keep an eye on Duncanists? Will you express your judgement of Citizen Darwin?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Inexhaustible

Report: The Citizen does not contemplate failure. Neither does he contemplate rest or compromise: once he has identified a case of antisocial behavior, he does not stop until he has "straightened out" the unruly patient. Citizen Robespierre is always the one to report the names of Citizens whose actions require more accurate scrutiny to fellow Educational Operators. Robespierre carries out his "mission" with the accuracy of a sophisticated machine, and it is no wonder that the Citizen is also a vocal supporter of the electronic brain Marilyn and an illustrious member of the Donkey Club. To him, progress is a core value; for this reason he has taken it upon himself to analyze Scientific Operator Darwin's case. He is in the process of evaluating the need to assign Darwin to a Tutor.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is apt at detecting antisocial behavior in the most unsuspected members of Bunker 101. He never rests and looks with machine-like precision to recognize alarming symptoms in oblivious Citizens.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Hostile

Report: The Citizen is adverse to any and all forms of religion or spirituality. He believes these practices to be the greatest cause of instability in a fragile, limited community such as that of Bunker 101. He seems to particularly despise Duncanists, and has fixated on the case of Citizen Einstein, who steadfastly refuses to give her husband a son, saying that her choice must come from "some irrational Duncanist perversion". As if this was not enough, Citizen Robespierre is anything but an easy coworker to handle: he is not at all interested in moderating his authoritarian tendencies and accuses his fellow Educational Operators of being too soft. He has also manifested a strong enmity towards his former colleague, President Grant, who he has accused of being "lax, timid and mediocre". The Citizen, a long-standing member of the Donkey Club, advocates for extreme stances such as entrusting the entire management of antisocial cases to the electronic brain.

Associated behavior: The Citizen carefully monitors Duncanists, and is convinced that their fervor could easily turn into fanaticism.

SCHRÖDINGER

ARCHETYPE: The insufferable genius

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Yellow

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Logistical

Club: Decency

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you always keep your cool? Will you keep silent on the fact that you think essentially every other Citizen of Bunker 101 is dumber than you? Will you manage to show your emotions somehow? Will you humiliate Eyser like they deserve? Will you tell Turing they're the only one who could hope to be your match?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Unflappable

Report: The Citizen is capable of showing unperturbed, stoic calm in any situation, as if there was nothing that could ever faze them or make them angry. This attitude has allowed them to handle intense work schedules with ease, as well as frequent directives to reprogram the electronic brain. An example would be their competent management of a conflict: when Citizen Eyser insulted them for being "a slave to a machine", they did not react to the offense, and instead distanced themselves from the other party without indulging their rage.

Associated behavior: The Citizen does not react to taunts, and they keep calm in the face of tension or emergencies.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Emotionally stunted

Report: The Citizen has little emotional self-awareness and seems incapable of recognizing and verbally describing their emotional state as well as others'. Citizen Schrödinger reacts coldly to the most extreme emotional stimuli, and when interacting with others they always keep a rational disposition. When offered a Union Permit as an award for their impeccable work with Marilyn, Schrödinger refused with little hesitation, objecting that "it would be an enormous waste of time to handle a social relationship with high expectations of affection and reproducitivity". This attitude of theirs has caused numerous problems with their colleagues in the Progress Department, Citizen Turing in particular.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is cold and pragmatic, and does not seem to know how to express their feelings or interpret those of others: this makes them look detached, aloof and even insensitive.

SHERMAN

ARCHETYPE: The current Secretary of Welfare

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Birth

Ties: Union with Olsen. Mother to Majorana.

Department: Welfare

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Therapeutic

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

How can you juggle your life as a wife, a mother and a Secretary? Do Kerouac's attentions make you uneasy? How do you answer to those that ask you to weigh in on Citizen Lacoste's reproductive issues? Have you completely disavowed your pro-abortion views? Will you put a stop to the rumors about you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Paragon

Report: She is devoted to her family and to the Elephant Club, as well as being a prominent voice in the Council of Synergy. She often releases public statements and President Grant describes her as a prepared and tenacious woman one can trust with their life. Her Union with Citizen Olsen, previously a Quadrofour, demonstrates that love does not stop at the boundaries of one's birth Block.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is a model wife and mother to the entirety of Bunker 101. Her role within the Council of Synergy is vital to safeguard the mental and physical health of its Citizens.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Misguided

Report: At a young age, the Citizen led a campaign for the abrogation of Article 17 of the Codex (ban on abortion). When admonished by the Elephant Club, she publicly disavowed those subversive ideas. Her role as an exemplary mother has redeemed her in the eyes of the public, in spite of circulating rumors about her involvement on the reproductive issues of Citizens Lacoste and Puskas. She used her influence on the Council of Synergy to dissipate the accusations of chemical addiction leveled against her husband, Olsen.

Associated behavior: The Citizen must constantly defend her work as a Secretary, deflecting comments about her past as an abortionist as well as the fact she used her influence to exculpate her husband.

SINATRA

ARCHETYPE: The insolent looking for revenge

Block: Quadrofour

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Ecological

Club: Sport

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you think you're entitled to a promotion to Supervisor? Do you think the Ecosystem Department is a team and everyone should act like you're on the same boat? Will you use Bounce! to get back at that psychopath, Ewry? Will you sate your thirst for payback against those who think they're better than you? Will you make someone pay if you don't become Supervisor?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Skilled

Report: The Citizen stands out from other Ecological Operators for their high degree of specialization. They think highly of themselves and never miss a chance to tease their colleagues, Lamarr and Crawford, by saying they have no hope of replacing their late Supervisor, Douglas, because that place belongs to Sinatra. This competitive spirit is in any case good-natured, and it acts as a prod for the entire Unit. Citizen Sinatra does not shy away from responsibilities to prove their worth, and for this reason they were subjected to a rough questioning session by Citizen Ewry. Sinatra came out with a smile, their façade only slightly cracked.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often derides their colleagues to egg them on. They think every member of a Department represents the entire Department, and behaves accordingly. They often volunteer and care about being the best.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Exuberant

Report: The Citizen constantly claims to feel no ill will towards Citizen Ewry about the questioning session, but their unprecedented devotion to Bounce! indicates otherwise. Sinatra seems to believe the playing field is some sort of safe zone, a place to get revenge without reprisal on an upper-class Citizen. Because of this very attitude, their reaction to being denied a place as Supervisor is completely unpredictable, considering their perceived entitlement to the role.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often jokes about Citizen Ewry and Block Unaone. Behind their quips hides a clear hostility. They see Bounce! as a way to get payback.

SPOONER

ARCHETYPE: The culprit with a gentle heart

Block: Pentafive
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: -
Ties: Tutored by Lincoln
Department: Security
Level: Operator
Classification: Exploration
Club: Sport
Political stance: Mastiff
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you stop loathing yourself for what you did? Will you keep your promise to Lincoln and finally leave the past behind? Will you look to faith in Duncan for deliverance from your immense guilt? Will you support your friends and colleagues when the moment finally comes? Will you make your fellow Pentafives happy with a Bounce! trophy?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Altruistic

Report: The Citizen is well-loved by Unit Pitcher, which they're a proud member of. Citizen Spooner has devoted themselves body and soul to physical training in order to prepare for Extra-bunker exploration, but they never miss a chance to help their less-prepared team mates. During a very delicate, risky simulation, they were able to rescue their friend and colleague, Citizen Nuvolari. They are also a stabilizing element within their Block's Bounce! team: unlike their talented but competitive team mates, the Citizen tends to be more cooperative during games and willing to assist their partner's actions.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always tries to be helpful to their team mates, and puts others' wellbeing in front of their own, both on the job and in sports. They try to reconcile their Bounce! mates, Turing and Carosone, when they bicker.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Tormented by guilt

Report: At the beginning of their training, the Citizen caused a deathly accident during a simulation, which resulted in the death of Citizen Lincoln's partner, Weismuller. Found guilty of the fatal distraction, Citizen Spooner underwent a rehabilitation process and was assigned to the care of Educational Operator Lincoln. Lincoln not only forgave them, but also volunteered to be their Tutor. While Citizen Spooner has successfully completed their reeducation and is now a paragon of sobriety and competence, with much satisfaction on Lincoln's part, they have thus far been unable to cope with their guilt, which keeps them from restful sleep and haunts them while awake.

Associated behavior: The Citizen seems to have no regard for their own existence: they try to consume as little resources as they can, to sacrifice themselves for others and to volunteer for every dangerous task.

SWAHLN

ARCHETYPE: The Bunker's little princess

Block: Unaone

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties: Daughter to Curie and Zatopek. Sister to Nagurski

Department: Security

Level: Operator

Classification: Exploration control

Club: Decency

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you make many new friends? Will you find a real boyfriend for your sister, since she wants one so much? Will you make mommy and daddy happy, when they're so worried about you? Will you wear your new dress to the ball? Will you get to see a real sheep? Will you reach the Little Prince on Asteroid B-612?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Innocent

Report: The Citizen has repeatedly manifested impressive candor and goodwill. She alternates moments of coquettish grace to a naive, sweet disposition. More than once she was able to support shut-off, sorrowful Citizens thanks to her alienated, sincere ways.

Associated behavior: The Citizen interacts with all Citizens of Bunker 101 with no prejudices about their Block or Department. She poses them questions, easily warms up to those who give her attention and is loyal to her friends.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Childish

Report: The Citizen seems to be psychically underdeveloped for her chronological age and exhibits antisocial behavior of an unusual nature. Her reasoning is shockingly naive for an individual of her age, and her behavior is childish and whimsical. She is also plagued by sudden bouts of fear and anxiety with no seeming explanation. In spite of the esteem and respect earned by her parents, model members of Bunker 101, one cannot help but judge Citizen Swahn inefficient in her professional environment. Furthermore, her volatile nature and her physical frailty make her unfit for a Union Permit and the conception of a child for Bunker 101. A symptomatic episode: during a calibration session with Educational Operator Nelson, when asked to return the book she always carries to the Archives, she refused to do so. When Citizen Modigliani insisted, Citizen Swahn threw a tantrum, screaming and crying like a small child.

Associated behavior: The Citizen alternates naive carelessness with fear and frailty. In spite of appearances, she is unfit to take care of herself.

TESLA

ARCHETYPE: The Lost Lamb

Block: Terrathree

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: -

Ties: Tutored by Borges

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Logistic

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Is learning the best way to hear the Founder's voice with more clarity? Should Marilyn become even more important to the bunker? Do you accept to be seen as crazy because insistence is the only way to get the others to listen to the Founder? Do you think someone out there wants to silence you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Willing to learn

Report: In a competitive environment such as the Logistical Unit, the Citizen is always ready to listen in order to improve. They know how to be a conciliating, gregarious presence within their group, without underestimating themselves or losing sight of their own potential. They sincerely admire Supervisor Fermi, whom they consider a cornerstone of the Unit in spite of their difficult personality.

Associated behavior: The Citizen is dutiful and obeys orders to the best of their abilities. They are ready to admit to their mistakes and willing to correct them. They respect authorities while still showing initiative.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Hallucinating

Report: The Citizen claims to hear the Founder speaking through Marilyn. They have undergone many therapy sessions and are currently assisted by a Tutor, Citizen Borges, as well as benefiting from the support of the entire Tailor Club, but their situation does not seem to be improving in any significant way. They have more than once ridiculed themselves by trying to interpret the machine's noises or fragments of badly-preserved recordings as being the "voice of the Founder".

Associated behavior: The Citizen claims to hear the voice of the Founder through the electronic brain. They often launch into ravings that border on prophetic. They feel Citizen Borges is the only one who understands them.

TRACY

ARCHETYPE: The defender of the meek

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Female

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties: Denied Union request with Owens.

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Ecological

Club: Mastiff

Political stance: Mastiff

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you stand against bullies like Fibonacci to keep them from lording over Bunker 101? Will you stay shackled to an impossible love or look for a new partner and hope the Council of Synergy approves your next request? Will you fight for Pentafives to finally be heard? Will you run for President to defend all those who have nobody to fight for them?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Protective

Report: The Citizen manifests a natural inclination to take care of those she perceives as more fragile, weaker or defenseless. This protective instinct of hers frequently pushes her to act, making her well-loved by coworkers and friends alike. A noteworthy episode occurred a short time ago: Citizen Tracy stepped in to defend Citizen Keaton from Citizen Fibonacci's harassment: the latter was deriding the former, a not-uncommon occurrence between the two.

Associated behavior: When witness to persecution or humiliation, the Citizen promptly steps in to defend the party she thinks is being oppressed.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Impulsive

Report: The Citizen rarely reflects on the consequences of her actions, and often moves without thinking. When she was informed of the Council of Synergy's negative response to her request for a Union Permit with her beloved from Block Unaone, Citizen Owens, Tracy left her post during a delicate radioactive waste disposal operation, putting not only her coworkers, but also innocent Citizens of Bunker 101 in Danger. Because of this grave mistake, Tracy was summoned before the Welfare Department Committee to issue a public apology.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often reacts by impulse, without thinking about the motivations of other parties. She is still in love with Owens and looks for a way to overturn the Council's decision.

TRUMAN

ARCHETYPE: The pillar on the verge of collapse

Block: Bissotwo

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Welfare

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Therapeutic

Club: Dancing

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Will you try and change the reality that hardly fits you at all anymore? Will you hold up your façade of exuberance and positivity? Will you always be able to lead your team with smiles, optimism and encouraging words? Will you help Marshall and try to understand what they're feeling? Will you confront Jefferson for choosing to out you as antisocial without telling you first? Will you earn back your rank on the Schneider Scale?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Forgiving

Report: The Citizen shows remarkable compassion as Therapeutic Supervisor and leads their Unit with kindness. An example of the positive effects of this attitude occurred a short while ago: Therapeutic Operator Marshall was victim of an unforeseeable panic attack and Truman was able to efficiently handle the situation by assisting their subordinate while avoiding needless alarmism among the patients who were waiting in line for their routine screenings.

Associated behavior: The Citizen has great social skills and is sympathetic to both patients and coworkers, treating everyone with kindness: they have a word of praise for everyone and they try to create a positive, cooperative work environment.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Distressed

Report: The Citizen has always been a pillar to the Therapeutic Unit, but recently a precipitous decline of their morale has been reported. Educational Operator Jefferson insisted in diagnosing Citizen Truman with antisocial tendencies. Since this disposition has not yet impaired Truman's efficiency and fairness towards their subordinates, the Committee has chosen not to relieve them of their role as Supervisor. Yet their unmotivated grief has caused a drastic but inevitable variation, hopefully temporary, of their rank in the Schneider Scale.

Associated behavior: The Citizen tries to hide their suffering behind an exuberant façade, throwing themselves headfirst into work and their activities with the Dancing Club. From time to time, however, their unreasonable sorrow bleeds through, showing their unhappiness to everyone.

TURING

ARCHETYPE: The talented social climber

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage

Ties:

Department: Progress

Level: Operator

Classification: Logistical

Club: Sport

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you think you are the best at what you do? Do you believe that getting where you are after starting where you did adds to your personal worth? Do you think you're a symbol to other Pentafives? Will you let nobody unfairly judge you, not to mention walk all over you? Will you show Carosone that their bragging is nothing compared to your real talent? Why does Citizen Schrödinger still fascinate you, in spite of how much they offended you?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Winner

Report: In spite of their humble origins in Block Pentafive, the Citizen is used to getting what they aim for: they are usually smart enough to know how to obtain it. Their Assignation exam established an unprecedented record and landed them the Logistical Operator position they had always wanted. Working with those they consider the best minds of the bunker and with Marilyn was their dream, but right after realizing it they began to look to new goals. Today they want to win the Bounce! championship, with the added plus of settling the score with team mate and rival Carosone. Tomorrow they may aspire to become President.

Associated behavior: The Citizen knows they are out of the ordinary. They never stop demanding perfection, from themselves and from others. They think they can do anything they set their mind to, without letting anyone discourage them.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Testy

Report: The Citizen is hardly able to stand criticism and does not allow any kind of teasing at their expense. They react badly to all insults to Block Pentafive, or their on Duncanist faith, in spite of their being a definite minority in their working environment. For this reason, Turing has difficulties in establishing personal relationships. When they tried to approach their coworkers in this sense, for example Citizen Schrödinger, they were met with cold rejection, an episode they still seem resentful about.

Associated behavior: The Citizen reacts badly to anything they perceive as a slight. They are far too apt at verbal violence and they occasionally come to physical aggression. At times, they are the first to look for a confrontation.

VOLTA

ARCHETYPE: The current Secretary of Progress

Block: Bissotwo
Gender: Unisex
Age: Adult
Schneider Scale: Green
Permits: Suffrage
Ties:
Department: Progress
Level: Supervisor
Classification: Technical
Club: Donkey
Political stance: Donkey
Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you sometimes miss field work? Will you put the next President to the test, before giving them your trust? Do you want to ensure the Donkey Club chooses a worthy candidate? Will you start a family before Secretary Bancroft?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Practical

Report: The Citizen is an experienced repair technician and approaches political matters with the same mindset: if there is a problem, one needs to patch things up as good as they can. Rather than lofty idealistic speeches, the Secretary prefers daily work; rather than long-winded Council of Synergy meetings, constant contact with the Progress Department. They always seem on the verge of rolling up their sleeves and picking up a wrench themselves, rather than coordinating Operators from a distance. For all these reasons they nurture a friendly rivalry with the Secretary of the Ecosystem, Citizen Bancroft.

Associated behavior: The Citizen values actions over words. They want to solve problems by themselves. They love spending time with Progress Department Operators, talking about their jobs. They often bicker with Secretary Bancroft.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Strict

Report: The Citizen is intolerant towards anything that is not strictly work-related: ceremonies, Club activities and even more abstract professions. Efficiency and competence seem to be everything to them. President Grant spent a long time gaining their trust, and were she to not be reelected, her successor will have a hard time doing the same. Secretary Volta once expressed their doubts about the real need for a community-elected President, when a system of Secretaries directly answering to Marilyn would be more practical, but went back on this claim in a later statement.

Associated behavior: The Citizen values others based on their competence on the job. They believe the President should earn the trust of their Secretaries, as well as that of the Citizens. They would like Marilyn to be consulted more often before taking a decision.

WAYNE

ARCHETYPE: The old heart of gold

Block: Pentafive

Gender: Unisex

Age: 40+

Schneider Scale: Red

Permits: Suffrage, Inebriation

Ties:

Department: Ecosystem

Level: Operator

Classification: Biological

Club: Tailor

Political stance: Donkey

Religious stance: Duncanist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Do you know you're past your prime and want to help the next generation? Do you feel death approaching and accept it, but would love for Duncanism to tell you what expects you beyond? Do you reject violence, as it is in any and all cases the worst mistake one could make? Do you consider the entirety of Bunker 101 your family? Do you feel close enough to the Twin Plants, Fred and Ginger, to treat them like people?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Lovable

Report: The Citizen is well-loved by everyone and likes feeling like a cornerstone of the bunker thanks to their old age. Unlike some of their contemporaries, they avoid losing themselves in tales of their youth or regretful retellings: they know they are at the sunset of their own life and accept this fact with serene grace. In spite of their humble profession and their choice to completely avoid volunteering for more prestigious positions, they are respected among all Duncanists and lead the Tailor Club by example, consistently rebuking violence and trying to make themselves heard through moderation.

Associated behavior: The Citizen speaks little and smiles often. When they open their mouth, they always do so with wisdom. They never complain, not even in the face of injustice. They love Duncanist rites and are devoted to the faith. They try to be a good example.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Morbid

Report: The Citizen often thinks about their death, and is convinced of its imminence. They have already requested their ashes to be equally distributed between the Twin Plants, moving many Biological Operators to tears. They often engage in unfathomable tasks with absolute seriousness, like explaining Fred and Ginger's different tastes in music to younger Operators. They sometimes leave the highest exponents of the Tailor Club feeling uneasy by looking for reassurances about their fate after death, according to the Founder's vision.

Associated behavior: The Citizen keeps thinking about their own death. They feel the need to leave a tangible legacy behind. They consider the Twin Plants like two relatives. They keep wanting to discuss what happens after death, both with the Tailor Club and with anyone willing to listen.

ZATOPEK

ARCHETYPE: The current Secretary of Security

Block: Unaone

Gender: Male

Age: Adult

Schneider Scale: Green

Permits: Suffrage, Union, Inebriation, Birth

Ties: Union with Curie. Father to Swahn and Nagurski

Department: Security

Level: Supervisor

Classification: Intelligence

Club: Elephant

Political stance: Elephant

Religious stance: Rationalist

MOTIVATIONAL PULLS:

Are you ready to support the President in times of need? And to take over, if necessary? Will you do anything to protect the bunker? Will you hide your intolerance towards Duncanists? Do your duties as Secretary keep you from watching over your daughters as much as you'd like to? Will you convince Nagurski to marry a nice young man? Will you come to terms with the fact that there's something wrong with Swahn? Will you rely on your trusted friend Robespierre?

FUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE:

Steadfast

Report: The Citizen always seems to have everything under control, no matter how complex the situation. With his family and on the workplace, he achieves the goals he sets without even needing to raise his voice. He has proved to be a patient tactician, knowledgeable about every Operator in his Department and capable of moderating the enmity some feel towards the military chain of command. His Union to Citizen Curie is unbreakable, his adoration for his daughters Swahn and Nagurski obvious to everyone. Not even the mental deficiency of gracious but frail Citizen Swahn seems to have affected their authority and reliability.

Associated behavior: The Citizen always seems to master the situation. He speaks calmly and resolutely. His movements are slow and pondered. His authority hard to question. civilians. He despises Duncanists most of all, as he thinks them out of touch with reality. His reasonable speeches are often tainted by a deep skepticism towards those who haven't yet earned his trust.

DYSFUNCTIONAL ATTRIBUTE: Distrustful

Report: The Citizen is aware of the low tolerance some have towards the military chain of command, and feels that this may lead people to mutiny. In case of danger, the Security Department is all that stands between Bunker 101 and ruin. This makes Secretary Zatopek pay back civilians with exactly the same amount of distrust: he often remarks on their lack of discipline and dedication. He only seems to trust his longtime friend the Educational Operator Robespierre: even though he is a civilian, Citizen Zatopek considers him as a trusted advisor. Zatopek's lack of understanding for the reasons of Duncanists is particularly evident. More than once he has stated that their ideals can only prosper thanks to the tact and practical sense shown by men such as First President Schneider.

Associated behavior: The Citizen often praised the military while doling out criticism towards civilians. He has an extremely low opinion of Duncanists due to their lack of contact with reality. His reasonable speeches show a deep skepticism toward those who did not demonstrate to be worthy of his trust.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT